STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

REVIEW OF NOVEMBER—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

Expectations of a change for the better in trade and business were again disappointed. At the beginning of the month there were quite a number of what seemed promising developments, and these encouraged hopes that the country might at last be getting ready to emerge from the depression under which it had suffered so long, but as the month progressed they lost their potency as influences for stimulating trade because they failed to fulfill their early promise. Among these early factors of promise may be mentioned (1) the rise in the price of wheat; this unfortunately, after making further headway in the first half of the month, encountered a severe setback the latter part of the month, as a result of which a considerable portion of the early advance was lost; (2) a marked appreciation in the price of silver, which likewise, after being carried much further in the fore part of the month, suffered a severe setback the latter part; (3) hopes that railroad labor, now that the Commerce Commission had denied the petition of the railroads for a flat increase in railroad freight rates of 15%, and, instead, had granted only very moderate increases confined to special classes of freight, and had attached as a condition that even such increases must be applied first of all to helping out the weaker roads in order to enable these latter to meet their fixed charges—it had been hoped that railroad labor, recognizing the plight of the roads, would now consent to a 10% voluntary reduction in wage scales.

These hopes, however, were completely dashed to the ground as the heads of the railroad unions declined absolutely to entertain the proposal and countered with the proposition that any reduction in the wages of labor, if assented to, would have to be used in relieving unemployment rather than being used to ease the financial stress of the railroads. This attitude of railroad labor was unquestionably the most serious blow of all, inasmuch as it was generally admitted that placing the railroads on their feet again must precede any enduring revival of trade, and if this could be coupled with an improvement in the condition of the large farming class through higher prices for grain, the problem of putting trade and business on the way to recovery would be in great measure solved. There was at the opening of the month what appeared like another favoring factor, namely, an active bond market at rising prices, always considered a good sign, but this, too, vanished as railroad difficulties increased and the bond market suffered another severe tumble, passing indeed through the severest siege of the whole period of shrinking security values, it being almost impossible to dispose of even small blocks of bonds without precipitating a further sharp break in prices.

THE REFUSAL OF RAILROAD LABOR TO CONSENT TO A REDUCTION IN WAGES.

The New York Central RR. had been conducting negotiations with its unionized workers for some time with a view to getting them to assent to a voluntary reduction of 10% in wages for one year, when on Nov. 2 the railroad executives received a request from the Railway Labor Executives' Association at Washington asking for a conference with the railway executives, and in response to this request the latter, at a meeting in New York on Nov. 13, adopted a resolution providing that a committee of nine executives be appointed, consisting of three from the Eastern region, three from the Western region, and three from the Southern region, to confer with D. B. Robertson, Chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association and such members of his Association as he might desire, in order that executives and workers might gain an understanding of each other's respective viewpoints regarding the subject of railway labor. In harmony with this resolution, the Eastern, Western and Southern groups of roads selected three Presidents in each of the respective groups, the whole to constitute a Committee of Nine, of which Daniel Willard, of the Baltimore & Ohio RR. was made Chairman. The wage reduction proposal was considered at meetings between the two bodies which began in New York Nov. 19 and closed Sunday, Nov. 22, after the Presidents had acknowledged receipt of the labor unions' statement in a letter dated Nov. 21 and addressed to Daniel Willard, the Chairman of the Committee of Nine. The letter flatly turned down the proposition for a voluntary wage reduction. The chief reasons given by the labor unions in rejecting the proposal was that the railway executives failed to give assurance "that the money thus saved would be applied either to increase employment, or even to stabilize existing employment."

Mr. Robertson, as head of the Railway Labor Executive Association, in the course of his letter, made some spectacular and flambuoyant statements that could hardly be deemed argument or serious reasoning. He charged that railroad executives were engaged in an attempt "to increase the present wages of capital," and said: "You are taking nothing from the earnings of capital to support unemployed workers. You are asking that the employed workers take 10% from their earnings to support idle capital (a most extraordinary statement!). We submit that the first duty of the employed workers, after their duty to their dependents, is an obligation to their fellow employees who are denied an opportunity of employment." A number of other similar statements were also made. Thus: "We have been asked to contribute not to the relief of our fellow employees, but to the relief of those who have no claim upon our charity. We submit that impartial public opinion will support our answer that labor cannot be called upon to pay a dole to idle capital." Obviously this was simply grandstand play and without the least warrant or justification in fact. The railroads are not asking for charity, nor for a dole. Their proposition resolves itself down to the simple fact that railway revenues have fallen away in most distressing fashion, and that inasmuch as railway labor constitutes the most important item in the cost of running the roads, and as expenses must somehow be lowered, it seems only fair and right, and, in fact, inevitable, that wages should share to some reasonable extent in the lowering of operating costs. There appeared the more reason for asking this concession at the hands of railroad labor since the cost of living has so largely diminished and hence a given wage represents a corresponding increase in buying power from which it follows that the railroad worker where he has employment fares no worse with the lower wage schedule than he did under the higher wage scale, but with the cost of living also higher. To be sure, many railroad men are out of employment, and some are working only part time, and while this is no fault of the railroad workers, neither is it the fault of the railroads or the railroad executives. The depression is not of their making, nor had they any hand in bringing it about. Plainly enough, with less freight to handle and to move, owing to the bad times, the number of railroad workers employed also decreases and the railroads have no option but to reduce the force when there is no work for the men to do.

Failing to obtain a voluntary reduction in wage scales, the railroad Presidents had no alternative but to give notice that they would proceed to decrease wages in the ordinary course. What amounted to an ultimatum on wage reductions for all union railroad employees was issued Nov. 24 at a meeting of the Eastern Presidents' Conference, of which L. F. Loree is Chairman. After a two hours' conference the railroad Presidents decided to give the railroad brotherhoods an opportunity to make a reduction of their own volition. They decided, however, to defer action on the proposed wage reductions until they could learn of the decision reached by 1,500 general brotherhood chairmen who are to meet in Chicago Dec. 8 to get the report of the heads of the Railway Labor Executives' Association. If the Brotherhood Chairmen refuse to agree to a voluntary wage decrease the members of the Eastern Presidents' Conference feel that no other course will be open to them but to order cuts under the procedure provided in the labor provisions of the Transportation Act.

RAILROADS ANNOUNCE ACCEPTANCE OF THE OFFER OF THE INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION FOR MODERATE RATE INCREASES BUT CONDITIONED UPON CERTAIN CHANGES, MORE PARTICULARLY THAT THE INCREASED REVENUES RESULTING IN THEIR APPLICATION TO THE WEAKER ROADS SHALL BE IN THE NATURE OF LOANS RATHER THAN IN THE FORM OF OUTRIGHT GIFTS.

The Association of Railway Executives on Nov. 19 accepted the Inter-State Commerce Commission's proposal to use the revenues from a contingent freight rate increase to assist financially distressed railroads, but recommended important modifications in the Commission's initial statement. Chief among the changes proposed is that the funds advanced to the weaker carriers from the rate pool should be loans, and not gifts. It is proposed that these loans be secured by proper collateral, that they bear interest at the prevailing rediscount rate of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, and that they run for two years. Other proposed modifications include changing the $3 and $6 a car surcharges to a "cent-per-net-ton" basis on the ground that cars vary in size; elimination of the requirement that if a rate is lowered after the increases are effective the cut must come from the basic rates, and inclusion of lighterage charges as well as switching charges in the proposed increases and the exemption of both from the suggested increase wherever they are now absorbed into the charge for the line haul, as in the case of lighterage service in New York Harbor. The petition also requests that for increases on less-than-carload freight a basis other than the flat 2c. a hundred pounds be substituted.

Accompanying the petition is a plan for the creation of the Railroad Credit Corporation which would collect the contributions of the roads and govern and distribute the advances. The plan includes various restrictions on such advances, providing, among others, that they could not be made to roads already in default, and, with certain exceptions, for repayment of the loans in preference to payment of dividends.

The organization would be incorporated under Delaware laws and be governed by 12 directors with headquarters in Washington. Of the directors, five would be nominated by members of the Eastern district, one being from New England; three by the Western district, and two by the Southern district, while one would be named by the board of directors of the American Short Line RR. Association. The twelfth would be a director-at-large and President of the Corporation. No compensation would be paid to any of the directors. The Corporation's existence is limited to March 31 1933, the railway executives indicating by this provision that they believe business conditions will have improved sufficiently by that time to enable carriers to do business on a normal basis.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS—DEVELOPMENTS IN FRANCE, GERMANY AND AUSTRIA.

The European financial crisis remained, during November, one of the outstanding influences in world affairs. Although signs of improvement were not lacking, they were mainly negative in character. The panicky tendency witnessed in some parts of Europe during October, which occasioned much of the gold withdrawals from the United States, waned and finally died out. Soon after the conclusion of the Hoover-Laval conversations in Washington late in October, the gold withdrawals ceased, and by the beginning of November a favorable movement toward the United States set in. The gold loss, which during September and October reached a gross figure of $800,000,000, but were offset by $205,500,000 of imports, was thus brought to an end and European confidence in the dollar re-established.

In Europe itself the crisis waned with relative slowness. It had its origin in Austria last May, when the Credit Anstalt collapsed. It spread throughout the Balkan countries, became acute in Germany on July 14, and led to the British suspension of gold payments on Sept. 21, and similar announcements by all three Scandinavian central banks a week thereafter. Sterling exchange, loosed from its gold peg, swung precipitately downward after the suspension announcement, but steadied during October at a level of about $3.90, or a discount of about 20%. During most of November, also, sterling hovered within a comparatively narrow [illegible]. Toward the close of November, however, a [illegible] decline took place, and by Nov. 30 a quotation of $3.25 for cable transfers was recorded, or a discount of about 30%. In view of the importance of sterling in world trade, this decline naturally had an unsettling influence in all countries.

The question of sterling stabilization was alluded to several times in November by the responsible Ministers of the British Government, but no definite indications of the point of fixation were given. Prime Minister MacDonald stated at the annual Lord Mayor's banquet at the Guildhall in London, Nov. 9, that as soon as practicable steps would be taken for stabilization of sterling on a definite basis, but he added that stabilization depends on factors not entirely within British control. Neville Chamberlain, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, discussed the question guardedly in the House of Commons Nov. 17. When asked if the Government contemplated an early return to the gold standard, Mr. Chamberlain replied: "There are a number of important conditions, some of which are not subject to our control, which must be satisfied before the stabilization of sterling in gold can be contemplated. Our immediate object is to balance our budget, rectify the adverse trade balance and maintain the internal purchasing value of the pound."

In the three Scandinavian countries stabilization of the respective currencies is apparently to depend on the British action and point of fixation. The three countries appeared likely, according to a Copenhagen dispatch of Nov. 17 to the New York "Times," to adopt a common policy closely following the British pound sterling. The problems of foreign exchange management and control were reflected in a series of bills, passed by the Danish Parliament Nov. 18, providing for prolongation of the gold suspension until the end of February 1932, and authorizing the Minister of Finance to order immediate conversion of exporters' foreign credits into Danish currency. The Minister also was entrusted with the regulation of the import and export of foreign securities.

Exchange restrictions in Germany remained drastic and no alleviation has so far appeared in the rigid regime imposed upon that country by successive stages during July, August and September. The need for a renewal of the short-term credits agreement worked out at Basle by the Wiggin-Layton committee of bankers was recognized in November, as the agreement expires Feb. 29 next year, and the problem of bill maturities thus arises. A second committee is to meet in Berlin Dec. 10 to discuss this matter. Payments arranged under the first "stillhaltung" agreement have been [illegible] punctually, and the negotiations are of the most satisfactory nature, [illegible] of the situation. The Berlin Bourse and other [illegible] in [illegible] reopening [illegible] and it [illegible] appear likely that the Government and the Reichsbank will permit a reopening before next year. The $100,000,000 credit granted the Reichsbank in June by the Federal Reserve banks, the Bank of England, the Bank of France, and the B. I. S., was renewed for an unnamed period, according to an announcement on Nov. 2 by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

In Austria, Hungary, Rumania and Yugoslavia the financial crisis remains serious. Directors of the B. I. S. considered, at their regular meeting in Basle, Nov. 16, the question of extending a $6,000,000 additional credit to the National Bank of Austria, granted at the disposal of the B. I. S. by the Bank of France. Extension of the credit was deferred, a B. I. S. committee to visit Vienna with pending the receipt of further information respecting Austria's financial negotiations. Much pessimism was aroused in Vienna by the belief that the credit was looked upon as certain in the Austrian capital. The Rumanian financial situation was [illegible] cussed at Budapest, Nov. 1, by the Premier, Count Julius Karolyi, who announced that American, British and other bankers had been asked to reduce the interest rates on his country's foreign debts. His country, he said, would try to carry out the League Finance Committee's recommendation that the country continue to pay the $60,000,000 a year due for interest and amortization of Government and private debt contracted externally. "We can meet the payments due in the next few months," Count Karolyi said, "but in the long run we think our creditors must reduce the interest charged on our loans, which averages 8%. We are now trying to make an agreement of this kind with them." In reprisal for exchange restrictions imposed by the Austrian and Hungarian Governments, the Yugoslavian Government announced on Nov. 17 that the sale of Austrian and Hungarian bills, checks and currency in Yugoslavia would be forbidden and withdrawals of bank balances by the nationals of the two countries also stopped.

The whole question of German reparations and inter-Allied debt payments was reopened in the broadest possible fashion in November, as a consequence of the discussion in Washington during October between President Hoover and Premier Pierre Laval of France. The joint statement issued in Washington, Oct. 25, indicated that the initiative regarding further action on intergovernmental debts should be taken by the European governments principally concerned, within the framework of the agreements existing prior to the Hoover year of postponement. Immediately on the heels of this statement, informal conversations were started by the German and French Governments, through their respective Foreign Offices and Ambassadors, for the formulation of a method of approach. Premier Laval reached Paris Nov. 2, and promptly participated in these discussions. The diverse views of the German and French Governments as to procedure were quickly made apparent. Germany desired, Berlin reports said, not only an inquiry by an advisory committee of the B. I. S., to be called in due course under the Young Plan provisions, but also a more sweeping investigation designed to establish the juxtaposition of reparations and Germany's private short-term credits under the "stillhaltung" agreement. French official circles viewed this suggestion coldly, according to Paris dispatches.

This preliminary exchange ended Nov. 19, when the Young Plan machinery for the downward revision of reparations was set in formal motion by the German Government. The action taken consisted of a request to the Bank for International Settlements for the convocation of a special advisory committee to investigate Germany's capacity to resume payments after expiration of the Hoover moratorium year. The request was in strict conformity with the provisions of the Young Plan, and the committee will thus consider the further postponement of conditional, but not of unconditional, annuities. In a statement following the request, the German Government set forth the need for a complete re-examination of the whole range of German political and private debts by an international commission. It states that the present circumstances require measures to be taken with the greatest urgency.

"The German Government proposes," the application adds, "that a special advisory committee should meet without delay, and that it should carry out its task as quickly as possible, so that a conference of those governments which are concerned with decisions to be reached may take place in the very near future." The German Government reached the decision in June, before the Hoover moratorium was announced, that the country could not go on paying annuities, it is remarked. Reviewing developments since that time, the memorandum states that the hoped-for improvement has not been realized, as the Hoover moratorium is apparently not sufficient in itself to prevent the collapse of German economy. The application now made for reconsideration of postponable annuities, moreover, "does not do justice to the actual situation," it is asserted. "As the new plan confers upon the special advisory committee the task of considering all phases of the situation, the committee must examine the problem as a whole and with regard to all its contributory causes, and in so doing must particularly consider the fact that the matter of Germany's private indebtedness has to be settled before the end of next February.

Only a day after this application was made to the B. I. S., announcement was made by Governor George L. Harrison, of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, that Walter W. Stewart, of Case, Pomeroy & Co., had been chosen the American member of the special advisory committee. Mr. Stewart sailed for Basle, Nov. 28, in order to attend the meeting which begins Dec. 7. It was announced in London, Nov. 24, that Sir Walter Layton, editor of "The Economist," would be the British member. A statement on the French position was made by Premier Laval, Nov. 26, in the Chamber of Deputies. "We will accept rearrangements for a limited period," M. Laval declared, "but will not consent to a revision of reparations unless reductions in an equal measure at least are consented to with respect to war debts. We will demand payment of the unconditional annuities and we will not accede to priority being given to private debts over our reparations." When the report of the experts is made, M. Laval added, a conference of the interested governments will be held. "For the period of the depression we will not refuse to examine the possibility of a new arrangement between debtors and creditors," he remarked. "It is to our interest that Germany recover her solvency."

Of interest, at this juncture, are the several comments on the subject of reparations and intergovernmental debts made in November by officials of the new National Government of Great Britain, headed by Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald. The composition of the new regime was announced by Mr. MacDonald Nov. 5, a week after the national election of Oct. 27 swept the Conservatives and the remnants of the other parties which make up the National coalition to an unparalleled victory. The only surprise in the list of Ministers was the appointment of Sir John Simon as Foreign Secretary, to succeed the Marquess of Reading. Neville Chamberlain was made Chancellor of the Exchequer to take the place of Philip Snowden, who was created a Viscount and thus takes a place in the Lords.

In his Parliamentary declaration at the official opening of Parliament Nov. 10, Mr. MacDonald gave first attention to the reparations and debts problems. Referring to these problems, he scored the "unnatural economic adjustment" forced upon the world and asserted that it has resulted in a "crazy economy" which is bound to impoverish not only the nation that makes the payment, but also the nation that receives them. He urged that speedy arrangements be made "to extricate ourselves from this absurd economic entanglement which we have got into." A significant comment was made by Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council, Nov. 13. Mr. Baldwin stated before the House of Commons that Britain will not agree to priority of reparations over German commercial debts.

GREAT BRITAIN'S NEW TARIFF DUTIES.

The new British Government quickly started on the policy of protective tariffs, for which the general election is regarded as having given the MacDonald regime a clear and emphatic mandate. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, introduced a measure in Parliament Nov. 16 whereunder the official British Board received authority to levy an import duty of up to 100% ad valorem on all manufactured goods from abroad. This "abnormal imports act" was rushed through all three readings and made effective Nov. 20. The authority was used with unusual promptness, the Board of Trade announcing late Nov. 20 that a 50% tariff would be imposed on a long list of manufactured goods grouped as "Class 3" by the Board. The impost was made effective Nov. 25, and until that date merchandise subject to the new levy was rushed into England from all parts of the Continent. The imports affected include a wide variety of small wares, such as tools, razors, electrical equipment, radio sets, typewriters, woolen goods, linoleum, perfumery, table glassware and hosiery. All the items were formerly on the free list, with the exception of silk hosiery, which was formerly taxed at 33% and raised to 83%. American exports affected by this first order under the new authority amount to about $12,000,000 annually, it is estimated. Assurances that the MacDonald Government will speedily take corresponding measures for the protection of British agriculture were given in the Commons, Nov. 26, by Sir John Gilmour, Minister of Agriculture. The next step will consist, he declared, of the application of a quota-system regulating the amount of home-grown wheat in all flour ground in Britain.

THE VISIT TO THE UNITED STATES OF DINO GRANDI, THE ITALIAN FOREIGN MINISTER—ONE YEAR TRUCE IN LAND, SEA, AND AIR ARMAMENTS CONSTRUCTION.

A further development during November, to which more than passing significance attaches, was the official visit paid to Washington by Dino Grandi, the youthful Foreign Minister of Italy. Signor Grandi came to Washington on the invitation of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, and he thus returned the visit paid to Rome by the American Minister in the course of his unofficial tour of European capitals last summer. In order to avoid possible trouble with violent anti-Fascists in this country, Signor Grandi and his entourage were whisked to Washington on a special train immediately after their arrival in this country, Nov. 16. There followed four days of official conversations, which apparently resulted in little more than a loose understanding that Italy and the United States will pursue a common purpose in fostering disarmament. After his Washington visit, Signor Grandi came to New York and a round of receptions and functions followed. He sailed for his native Italy on Nov. 27.

Results of the official discussions in Washington were outlined in a joint statement issued by Signor Grandi and Secretary Stimson at the conclusion of the meetings, Nov. 19. The announcement was couched in general terms, and it disclosed little. It set forth that full advantage had been taken of the opportunity for a frank and cordial exchange of views respecting the many problems of world importance in which the Italian and United States Governments are equally interested. "Realizing," the statement continued, "that restoration of economic stability and confidence within our respective national boundaries can only find ultimate achievement through the further establishment of international financial stability and through a confidence that can extend itself to all nations, we have attempted to continue the efforts already initiated toward this end by a candid discussion of the many significant and related international problems, the solution of which have become a recognized necessity. The discussions have embraced subjects of such importance as the present financial crisis, intergovernmental debts, the problems surrounding the limitation and the reduction of armaments, the stabilization of international exchanges and other vital economic questions." The belief was expressed that existing naval understandings should be completed, and in that regard it was remarked that the one-year armaments truce affords an opportunity for greater achievements. "It has not been the purpose of this meeting to reach any particular arrangements," the joint statement concluded, "but the informal discussions and exchanges of views have served to clarify many points of mutual interest and have established a sympathetic understanding of our problems. We feel confident that the relationships fostered during this visit will prove valuable in laying the foundations for beneficial action by our respective governments."

Also of interest, since the name of Dino Grandi is directly connected with the project, was a proclamation by the League of Nations, Nov. 16, of a one-year truce in land, sea and air armaments construction. The proposal for this truce was made by Signor Grandi last September at the meeting of the League Assembly. In accordance with a resolution then adopted, the League Secretariat sent invitations to 63 nations to join the truce. Replies were to be made Nov. 1, and on that date the League had acceptances from more than half the nations in hand. Additional replies received thereafter brought the total number of acceptances up to 47, almost all of them conditional. No opposition was expressed, however, and it was indicated in Geneva, Nov. 16, that Secretary-General Sir Eric Drummond had conferred with Aristide Briand, the French Foreign Minister, regarding steps toward placing the truce in effect. M. Briand was said to be of the opinion that he had the authority to take, with Sir Eric, the decision of placing the truce in operation as of Nov. 1, and the proclamation followed.

THE MILITARY CLASHES IN MANCHURIA BETWEEN JAPAN AND CHINA.

Profoundly disturbing in the international sphere was, on the other hand, the series of military and diplomatic clashes between China and Japan during November in regard to Manchuria, where the interests of the two countries have long been in conflict. These troubles took their direct recent rise from alleged Chinese attempts to bomb a portion of the South Manchuria Railway near Mukden, Sept. 18. Moving with astonishing swiftness, Japanese forces under General Shigeru Honjo occupied the City of Mukden, the Chinese arsenal in that city, the banks and other establishments. They began, moreover, to extend their sway over all the lines of the Japanese-owned South Manchuria and its branches, and in doing so engaged in military operations that carried the Japanese troops far out of the so-called treaty areas where they are permitted by international agreements to remain. The League Council considered this question in September and again in October, hearing both the Chinese and Japanese sides of the question. The famous resolution of Oct. 30 was adopted by the Council in Paris, in the endeavor to insure withdrawal of all Japanese forces to the treaty zones by Nov. 16. On the latter date, however, battles were raging, and the League met again to reconsider the matter.

The whole affair was complicated to an unimaginable degree by the diplomatic pleas before the League Council, by the efforts of the Washington Government to support the League in this matter without incurring the displeasure of the American Congress and people, and by serious doubts whether the civil government of Japan was at all times in control of the Japanese military forces. Promises made by the Foreign Minister, Baron Shidehara, for the restraint of the Japanese troop movements, were apparently disregarded at times by the military Japanese group. The attitude of the Soviet Government also was important, as the Japanese forces rapidly extended their advance to Tsitsihar, which is north of the Russian-controlled Chinese Eastern Railway and thus well within the Russion sphere of influence. Fortunately, no actual troubles were encountered on this score. The Japanese lines were extended, in the course of the month, to all railways owned by Japan or built with the aid of Japanese capital, and at the close of November these lines were held, all the Chinese forces having been dispelled. In the closing days of the month a movement toward Chinchow, on the Peiping-Mukden Railway, was started by General Honjo, but the troops were again withdrawn. The British Government warned Japan, according to statements made in the House of Commons, that it had an interest in seeing the region remain undisturbed. Secretary Stimson also expressed anxiety, it was announced at Washington.

NATIONAL CREDIT CORP. BEGINS ACTIVE OPERATIONS BUT APPARENTLY WITH NO GREAT DEMAND FOR ITS SERVICES.

On Nov. 17 Mortimer N. Buckner, President of the National Credit Corp., issued a statement indicating the progress of the Corporation but reporting that no call for payment on account of the subscription would be issued for the present, inasmuch as certain individual banks were willing to make advances and hold funds available for the National Credit Corp. pending a call for payment on account of the subscriptions. The statement was as follows.

On Nov. 6 the National Credit Corp. announced that its Executive Committee had instructed the officers of the Corporation in their discretion to issue an initial call for the payment of 10% of the banks' subscriptions to its gold notes as soon as applications for loans from banks in fully organized associations were filed.

Since that date the National Credit Corp. has tendered its facilities and has actually made advances to fully organized associations under the terms and conditions of the credit plan without the necessity of issuing a call. This has been accomplished through the co-operation of certain individual banks which are willing to make advances and hold funds available to the National Credit Corp. pending a call for payment on account of subscriptions to the Corporation's gold notes.

When the advances to subscribing banks in fully organized associations accumulates to an amount that is deemed sufficient, a call for payment on account of subscriptions will be issued and these advances will be repaid thereby.

The officers of the National Credit Corp. believe that this procedure rather than a call for an installment payment on subscriptions at this time should relieve some banks of the burden of subscriptions and be more satisfactory generally to banks throughout the country.

It may be interesting to bankers and to the public generally to learn that in number and amount the advances already made by the Corporation through fully organized local associations of banks and the applications for advances now known to be in preparation or in transit to the home offices are relatively small.

The Corporation is following the policy that normally governs the relationship between individual banks and their customers in respect of the confidential nature of any loans requested or made and does not intend to make public the amount of advances or the location of the borrowing banks and the associations through which advances are made.

It is indicated now that subscriptions to the Corporation's gold notes will exceed the $500,000,000 originally estimated by those who formulated the plan following President Hoover's suggestion. The response of banks everywhere to the Corporation's invitation to subscribe not only is fully up to expectations, but also reflects a fine spirit of co-operation among the banks of the country. These subscriptions, as already announced, are on the basis of 2% of the banks' net demand and time deposits, not exceeding 10% of their capital and surplus, and no exceptions are being made to these requirements.

TWELVE HOME LOAN DISCOUNT BANKS PROPOSED BY PRESIDENT HOOVER, ONE IN EACH FEDERAL RESERVE DISTRICT.

The intention of President Hoover to propose to Congress the establishment of a system of Home Loan Discount Banks was made known in an announcement issued by him on Nov. 14. Among the objects cited by the President in giving details of his proposal were the following:

For the present emergency purpose of relieving the financial strains upon sound building and loan associations, savings banks, deposit banks and Farm Loan Banks that have been giving credit through the medium of small mortgage loans upon urban and farm properties used for homes, so as to relieve pressure upon home and farm owners.

To put the various types of institutions loaning on mortgages in a position to assist in the revival of home construction in many parts of the country and with its resultant increase in employment.

The President further said that the plan was designed "for the long-view purpose of strengthening such institutions in the promotion of home ownership, particularly through the financial strength thus made available to building and loan associations." The establishment of 12 Home Loan Discount Banks—one in each Federal Reserve District—under the direction of a Federal Home Loan Board, is proposed in the plan. The capital of the banks would "be initially of a minimum of $5,000,000 to $30,000,000, as may be determined by the Federal Board upon the basis of the aggregate of such mortgage loans and probable needs of the particular district." According to the President's announcement "building and loan associations, savings banks, deposit banks, farm loan banks, &c., may become members of the system after they have satisfied the conditions of qualifications and eligibility that may be fixed by the Federal Board." In describing the functions of the Discount Banks the President said:

The proposed Discount Banks to make no initial or direct mortgages, but to loan only upon the obligations of the loaning institutions secured by the mortgage loans as collateral so as to assure and expand the functioning of such institutions.

The mortgage loans eligible for collateral shall not exceed $15,000 each and shall be limited to urban and farm property used for home purposes.

The Discount Banks would be empowered to issue bonds or short-term notes to investors to an amount not to exceed in the aggregate 12 times the capital of the issuing bank. The statement with regard to the Banks likewise said:

The bonds of these Discount Banks would be thus secured by the obligations of the borrowing institutions, the mortgages deposited as collateral against such obligations and the capital of the Discount Banks. These bonds to be acceptable for security for government and postal deposits.

If the aggregate initial capital of the discount banks should in the beginning be fixed at $150,000,000 it would be possible for the 12 banks to finance approximately something more than $1,800,000,000 of advances to the borrowing institutions, which could be further expanded by increase in their capital.

As was provided in the case of the Federal Reserve banks, if the initial capital is not wholly supplied by the institutions which would participate in the service of the Discount Banks, it is to be subscribed by the Federal Government. The President, in his announcement, asserted that "there is no element of inflation in the plan but simply a better organization of credit for these purposes." He also said that "this proposed institution does not in any way displace the National Credit Association, which occupies an entirely different field of action."

Efforts of the large real estate operators to persuade President Hoover to widen his plan for the creation of central banks to discount real estate mortgages to make it include apartment houses as well as private dwellings did not prove successful, it was learned on Nov. 24, said the New York "Journal of Commerce" of Nov. 25, from which we take the following:

On Monday, Frederick Brown conferred with the President on the possibility of amending the plan. On the invitation of President Hoover he went to Washington and discussed the question.

It is now expected that the message of the President to Congress will embody a plan whose scope will correspond to the outline announced a few weeks ago.

In the meantime real estate operators in New York City, according to a recent announcement, are working separately on plans for the formation of a $50,000,000 corporation which would create new second mortgages. The Hoover banks would discount mortgages already in existence, but do not contemplate the direct issuance of new credits to finance building.

The plan for the formation of an issuing corporation, it is held in real estate circles, should stimulate new construction. Should the corporation actually be formed and such hopes of increasing building realized, it is expected that results would be most pronounced in private home construction in view of the great amount of floor space in office and apartment buildings created up to 1930.

THE RISE IN GRAIN PRICES, WITH SUBSEQUENT REACTION.

The rise in grain prices which was such a distinctive feature the latter part of October made further progress during November, but was followed by a severe break after the 9th of November during which reaction a large portion of the antecedent advance was lost. In speaking of the rise in October we gave some striking illustrations going to show with what enthusiasm the upward movement was received in the agricultural sections of the West, particularly in Oklahoma where there was a coincident sharp rise in oil prices, another important product in that part of the country. The downward reaction in November correspondingly moderated expectations, but still left the agricultural communities hopeful inasmuch as even after the setback prices remained considerably higher than they were at the time of the extraordinarily low levels reached the early part of October. The December option for wheat in Chicago, which during October jumped from 44⅝c. on the 5th to 61½c. on the last day of the month, advanced still further in November, touching a high of 68⅛c. Nov. 9, after which however, a sudden collapse occurred, probably on sales to realize profits, the rise having led to an active speculation in the grain markets. In the course of the downward reaction a low figure for this option of 51¾c. was recorded on Nov. 27. By Nov. 30 the price had recovered to 55c. and the close on that day was 54⅝c., which is just 10c. higher than the extremely low figure of 44⅝c. reached on the 5th of the previous month. March wheat in Chicago which had sold up from 47¼c. Oct. 5 to 65⅜c. Oct. 31, mounted to 71¼c. on Nov. 9, but then tumbled to 53⅛c. Nov. 27, but with the close Nov. 30 at 56½c. In Winnipeg the course of prices was much the same. On Nov. 5 a high of 72¾c. for the December option was reached, as against 52⅜c. on Oct. 3, but in the break the latter part of November sales were made on Nov. 27 at 56c. The close Nov. 30 was 59¼c. Other grain prices shared in the further rise, at the beginning of November and likewise in the subsequent decline and also in the upward reaction again in the closing days of November. December corn in Chicago which had sold as low as 32¾ on Oct. 5 and had risen to 41½c. Oct. 31, touched 48c. on Nov. 7 and then fell to 37½c. on Nov. 28 with the close Nov. 30 at 39¼c. March corn in Chicago which had jumped from 34¾c. Oct. 5 to 44¾c. Oct. 31, sold as high as 51⅛c. on Nov. 9, but then dropped to 40½c. Nov. 27, with the close Nov. 30 at 42½c. December oats in Chicago after rising from 20¼c. Oct. 5 to 25⅝c. Oct. 31, sold up to 28¼c. Nov. 9, and then, in the subsequent reaction touched 23¾c. Nov. 28 and closed Nov. 30 at 24¾c. The Agricultural Bureau at Washington in its estimates of the probable grain yield as of Nov. 1 made no change in the wheat figures, the winter wheat crop being put at 775,000,000 bushels, which compares with a winter wheat yield the previous season of 612,000,000 bushels and the spring wheat crop at 109,000,000 bushels against 251,000,000 bushels the previous year, making the combined crop 884,000,000 bushels for 1931 as against 863,000,000 bushels for 1930. The probable production of corn was put at 2,674,000,000 bushels as against the estimate for Oct. 1 of 2,703,000,000 bushels and comparing with only 2,094,000,000 bushels harvested in 1930 when the crop was short, having been seriously reduced by drouth during the early summer. The oats crop was put at only 1,174,000,000 bushels, as against 1,358,000,000 bushels, the yield in 1930. New estimates also appeared regarding the Canadian crops. Here the forecast of the wheat production in the Prairie provinces was raised by 32,600,000 bushels, from 246,400,000 bushels to 279,000,000 bushels, mainly because the Canadian census made available in the interval showed a larger seeded acreage than that used in the estimates of Sept. 9. Even with this addition, however, the total crop of the Dominion (including the Eastern provinces as well as the Western, and winter wheat as well as spring wheat) is roughly 100,000,000 bushels less than in 1930 owing to the severe and prolonged drouth experienced during 1931. In other words the 1931 crop is put at 298,000,000 bushels against 397,872,000 bushels in 1930.

FEDERAL FARM BOARD'S LOSSES IN OPERATIONS IN WHEAT AND COTTON.

On Nov. 21 the Federal Farm Board issued a statement bearing on the so-called Mill Export Plan, the Board announcing that the statement was being made available in response to questions which had been asked of it as to operations of the Grain Stabilization Corp. under the plan which was put into effect on Jan. 20 1931 in an effort to help keep export channels open. The Board said that a review of the transactions indicated that the plan was reasonably effective in enabling millers to retain established foreign trade and operate their plants at somewhat greater capacity than otherwise would have been the case, thereby giving additional employment to mill workers; that it resulted in about 9,000,000 bushels more wheat exports from the United States than would otherwise have been the case, and that it benefited wheat growers not only by this reduction in 1930 wheat carry-over, but also by affording an additional market for new crop wheat to the extent of the replacement purchases made by both the millers and the Grain Stabilization Corp. The Board also claimed that the operations of the Grain Stabilization Corp. during the winter of 1930-1931 had the effect of maintaining wheat prices in all United States markets at 15c. to 30c. per bushel higher than the comparable price in Liverpool, Antwerp and other markets which reflected importing values.

FEDERAL FARM BOARD HOLDS 189,656,187 BUSHELS OF 81-CENT WHEAT—HAD BOUGHT 329,641,052 BUSHELS—COTTON PURCHASES OF 1,319,809 BALES MADE AT AVERAGE PRICE OF 16.3 CENTS.

Officials of the Federal Farm Board revealed on Nov. 24 its transactions, disclosing large paper losses in wheat and cotton stabilization operations. The disclosures were made before the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry which began on Nov. 24 an inquiry into the agricultural situation. With regard to the hearing on the opening day the New York "Times" in a dispatch Nov. 24 stated:

Senators, members of the House and leaders of farmers' organizations heard James C. Stone, Chairman of the Board, and Carl Williams, its cotton member, relate how in operations with its $500,000,000 revolving fund the purchase of 329,641,052 bushels of wheat and 1,319,809 bales of cotton was financed.

Summoned before the Committee to testify on the Board's activities, Mr. Stone, who has been Chairman since the resignation of Alexander Legge, produced a copy of his annual report to Congress. He put into the record all the details of stabilization purchases, financing operations and other efforts of the Board to help the farmer.

The report, turned off the Government printing presses only a few hours before Mr. Stone's appearance before the Committee, showed that the Farm Board had bought wheat up to June 30 1931 at a cost of $270,204,303.78, or an average price of 81.97c. a bushel. Sales for export milling and other purposes amounted to 72,504,481 bushels, leaving 257,136,571 bushels owned by the Grain Stabilization Corp. last June 30.

189,656,187 Bushels Remain.

Up to Nov. 1 sales of stabilization wheat were made to Brazil of 25,000,000 bushels; to China, 15,000,000 bushels, and to Germany, 7,500,000 bushels. In addition, sales in regular trade channels had nearly equaled the 5,000,000-bushel monthly cumulative maximum, in accordance with the Board's statement of June 30. Wheat still owned by the Stabilization Corp. on Nov. 1 amounted to 178,656,187 bushels.

Up to June 30 the Cotton Stabilization Corp. had bought its 1,319,809 bales at a cost of $107,533,246, the average price being $81.48 a bale, or 16.3c. a pound. Net sales amounted to only 9,020 bales, leaving 1,310,789 owned by the Corporation on June 30.

At the close of the day's hearing the Board's losses were unofficially calculated at as high as $160,000,000 on the basis of cash prices to-day. Mr. Stone and Mr. Williams would not admit, however, that losses have been incurred on the 189,656,187 bushels of wheat and 1,310,789 bales of cotton now held by the Stabilization Corporation until an actual sale of these holdings is made. These holdings were bought at prices far above the present market figure. Mr. Stone promised to furnish the committee with estimates of the losses if the wheat and cotton had to be sold now. Senators estimated that the total loss on cotton, under a forced sale, would be $72,000,000. Farm Board officials said privately that if the wheat could be sold at $1 a bushel, this would permit the board to "break even." The statement was interpreted as meaning a total loss of about $85,000,000 on the wheat purchases.

Mr. Stone testified that there might be a loss of 2% on the $255,000,000 loaned to co-operatives, and this was worked out to mean an additional loss of $5,110,000.

While these three estimates of losses total more than $160,000,000, the figure does not include those on general sales before or after June 30, or those sustained on wheat sold to China and Germany, or exchanged with Brazil for coffee.

"There has been no opportunity for the Stabilization Corporation to dispose of its supplies at a profit," Chairman Stone testified. "It faces the necessity of developing a selling policy that will be least disturbing to the cotton market and which will keep its losses to as low a figure as may be consistent with this policy. The burden of carrying charges increases the longer the cotton is held, and eventually stabilization stocks must be sold. Until circumstances favor disposal, every economy possible will be practiced in carrying the stabilization cotton.

The banks of the cotton-producing States have agreed to make or renew loans to mature not earlier than July 31 1932, secured by cotton to the total amount of at least 3,500,000 bales.

"The Board has agreed not to call the obligation of the cotton co-operatives, covering approximately 2,000,000 bales of cotton, unless such cotton can be sold at a price of more than 12½ cents a pound, based on the near month of the New York Cotton Exchange, before July 31 1932, and that the Cotton Stabilization Corp. will maintain its present baleage of approximately 1,200,000 bales until July 1 1932, on the same terms.

Supplementing the above, we give herewith, from the New York "Times," the account from Washington of the Committee's hearing on Nov. 25:

Wheat and cotton stabilization activities of the Federal Farm Board involved a loss on paper of $177,000,000 on the basis of quotations of wheat and cotton on Oct. 31, according to a statement prepared for the Senate Agricultural Committee by James C. Stone, Chairman of the Farm Board.

The statement was put into the record of the Committee hearing by Senator McNary of Oregon, Chairman, who explained that an out-of-town engagement prevented Mr. Stone's personal appearance. Mr. Stone testified yesterday to the amount of wheat and cotton bought, sold and held by the Farm Board in the use of its revolving fund of $500,000,000, but was unable to give specific figures on investments, sales and losses.

According to Mr. Stone's statement, the Farm Board's holdings of wheat on Oct. 31, totaling 189,656,187 bushels, represented an investment of $1.17 a bushel, including purchase price, storage and other charges, and losses sustained on wheat previously sold, or a total of about $222,000,000. It was worth on Oct. 31 about $120,000,000, or $102,000,000 less than cost.

Says Losses May Be Reduced.

In cotton the Farm Board on Oct. 31 held 1,310,789 bales, representing on the same basis as wheat an investment of 18c. a pound, or about $120,000,000. The value of the cotton at quotations on Oct. 31 was about $45,000,000, or a loss of $75,000,000.

Many qualifications of these figures were contained in Chairman Stone's statement, which pointed out that future prices and the fact that the Board's wheat and cotton may not be sold completely until many years have passed may radically change the picture.

At to-day's hearing the Committee was told that four national farm organizations had finally united in backing agricultural relief by either the debenture or equalization fee plan, both of which have been opposed by President Hoover and other Republican administrations.

The organizations are the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the Farmers' Educational and Co-operative Union and the National Committee of Farm Organizations.

Recommendations for an investigation were made by Edward A. O'Neal, President of the Farm Bureau Federation, a friend of the Board; John A. Simpson, head of the Farmers' Union, who sharply criticized it, and by J. M. Garrow, President of the American Cotton Shippers' Association. Louis J. Taber, Master of the National Grange, was concerned principally with including in farm relief the debenture or the equalization fee.

The Farm Board Statement.

The Farm Board statement on its deals in wheat and cotton read:

"Wheat stabilization: On Oct. 31 1931 the Grain Stabilization Corporation held 189,656,187 bushels of unsold wheat. Including cost, carrying and operating charges, and loss on wheat sold to date, these remaining stocks represent an investment of $1.17 per bushel, or approximately $222,000,000.

"This wheat is being sold at not over 5,000,000 bushels per month (except for possible additional sales to foreign Governments). It would be impossible to sell all the holdings on any one day or in any short period without seriously breaking the price. The disposal of stabilization wheat may extend over several years into the future; if prices should rise significantly during that period, the final cost of stabilization might be materially less than it would appear from an estimate based on present market prices, and there might even be a gain.

"On Oct. 31 1931 the value of the unsold stocks owned by the Stabilization Corporation, computed at the market prices of that day (61½c., December futures at Chicago), would be estimated at 63½c. per bushel, or approximately $120,000,000.

Operations in Cotton.

"Cotton stabilization: On Oct. 31 the Cotton Stabilization Corporation held 1,310,789 bales of cotton. Including costs, carrying and operation charges and loss on cotton sold to date, these stocks represent an investment of about 18c. per pound, or approximately $120,000,000.

"This stock of cotton could not be sold in one day or in a short period without seriously depressing the price. The stock will not be sold within this crop year, and not within the next crop year if acreage is materially reduced. Should there be material advances in price before the sales are completed, the final cost of stabilization might be much less than would appear from an estimate based on present market prices, and in fact might even show a gain.

"On Oct. 31 1931 the value of the unsold stocks owned by the Stabilization Corporation, computed at the market price of that day and considering the quality of the cotton held, might be estimated at about $45,000,000."

COURSE OF COFFEE AND SUGAR PRICES.

Sugar prices again took a downward turn. Cuban raw sugar from 1.40c. Oct. 30 advanced to 1.43c. Nov. 5, but thereafter moved lower with sales on Nov. 27 at 1.25c. The wholesale price of refined sugar in this market was marked down on Nov. 6 from 4.60c. to 4.50c. and on Nov. 30 to 4.40c. at all the leading refineries. Francis E. Powell, President of the International Sugar Council, after being in Cuba for four days conferring with members of the National Sugar Exporting Corp. and the Sugar Institute in regard to the Chadbourne Plan for stabilizing the world sugar market, left Havana on Nov. 12 with a final statement of reassurance to Cuban producers, but according to newspaper advices his visit did not allay the fears of Cuban planters as to the restriction of the next crop. Associated Press accounts from Havana Nov. 17 reported that the Gutierrez bill, giving President Machado until Jan. 10 to fix the total production of sugar in Cuba for the coming season, had been passed by the Cuban Senate on that day. Under legislation making the Chadbourne Plan effective in Cuba for restricting world sugar output to consumption, the President had only until Nov. 10 to issue the decree. Organized opposition to any restriction on Cuba's 1931-1932 sugar crop was launched at a meeting at Santa Clara on Nov. 26 under the auspices of the National Association of Cane Planters, according to cablegrams from Havana. A unanimous decision to work for the cancellation of all international sugar agreements to which Cuba is a party was reached by 1,500 planters, backed by representatives of many branches of Cuban industry, commerce and labor. Dr. Rodriguez Blanco, President of the National Colonos Association and a member of the Sugar Commission operating under the plan, asserted that the cane planter of Cuba had been hoodwinked, and that it was he who had suffered most on account of the sacrifices made by the Republic under the Chadbourne Plan.

Coffee prices showed a still further slight advance in November and No. 7 Rio for spot delivery was quoted at 6½@6⅝c. Nov. 30 against 5¾@6c. Oct. 31; 5½c. Sept. 30; 5½@5¾c. Aug. 31; 5⅞@6c. July 31; 6⅛@7c. June 30; 6⅝c. May 29; 6½@6¾c. Apr. 30; 5½c. Mar. 31; 5½@5⅝c. Feb. 28; 6¾c. Jan. 31, and 7¼@7½c. Dec. 31 1930. No. 7 Santos was 7¼@7½c. Nov. 30, against 7¼c. bid Oct. 31; 6⅞@7c. Sept. 30; 6⅝@6⅞c. Aug. 31; 7½@7⅝c. July 31; 8½@9c. June 30; 8½@8¾c. May 29, and the same figure for Apr. 30; 7¾@8c. Mar. 31; 7¾@8c. Feb. 28; 8¾@9c. Jan. 31; 8¾@9¼c. Dec. 31 1930, and 11¼c. Oct. 31 1930. Plans for destroying increasing amounts of surplus stocks of coffee exercised a strengthening influence. Cable advices the last week of the month were to the effect that the State and Federal Governments had agreed to the re-establishment of the National Coffee Council under exclusive Federal Government supervision, and to elimination of 12,000,000 bags of surplus coffee from the market by destruction. A plan for the immediate destruction of 18,000,000 sacks was temporarily abandoned when English and United States bankers balked at the financial arrangements proposed by the Brazilian Government. The latter offered the income for four years from the export tax as collateral in place of the surplus stock now pledged. The bankers said they were unable to communicate with the bondholders for permission to change the collateral.

THE TEXTILE MARKETS—UNSEASONABLY WARM WEATHER A DEPRESSING INFLUENCE.

Unseasonably high temperatures proved a depressing influence in the textile markets as it naturally served to restrict the demand for seasonal goods. For several days the latter part of the month the temperature in this city went to 70 degrees and higher. On Sunday, Nov. 22, the thermometer rose to 70 degrees, a high record for that day, exceeding the previous high of 68 degrees 40 years before. On Nov. 23 the thermometer rose to 72 degrees, which was 23 degrees above the normal for Nov. 23 and the high record for that date. In sharp contrast, temperatures in Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Wyoming and surrounding States were much below the normal with severe storms. The further severe decline in the security markets and the despondent atmosphere in Wall Street and the financial district proved a further depressing influence in the textile markets. The trend of the price of raw cotton was again lower. Here in New York the price for spot cotton, as against 6.70c. at the opening of the month and 6.85c. Nov. 9, dropped as low as 6.10c. Nov. 21 and on Nov. 23, with the price Nov. 30 6.20c. Print cloths at Fall River for 28 in. 64x60 were marked down from 2¾c. per yard to 2 11-16c. on Nov. 10 and further reduced to 2⅝c. Nov. 25. Under date of Nov. 14 the U. S. Census Bureau announced that the consumption of cotton in the United States during October had amounted to 462,025 bales of lint and 61,243 bales of linters, compared with 443,284 bales of lint and 66,165 bales of linters in October 1930. The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York made public its statistics for the month of October. These showed that stocks of cotton goods on hand at the end of October amounted to 255,833,000 yards as against 244,924,000 yards at the beginning of the month. Shipments during October were 216,207,000 yards, against production of 227,116,000 yards. Sales amounted to 333,679,000 yards, or 146.9% of production and 131% of the total goods on hand at the end of the month. Unfilled orders of 344,639,000 yards on Oct. 31 showed an increase of 117,500,000 yards, or 51.7% over the business on hand at the close of September. It was pointed out that in actual yardage as well as in percentage, this was the greatest improvement in orders on hand recorded in any single month since these statistics have been in process of compilation. The strike of 23,000 Lawrence textile workers (Lawrence, Mass.) against a 10% reduction in pay collapsed on Nov. 9 after having been in effect six weeks. More than 15,000 hands flocked back to the mills in defiance of their labor leaders, while there were jobs for only 9,000. In addition, 5,400 others, all employed by the Pacific Mills, were deprived of a chance of returning because those plants had been closed indefinitely. The strike affected the American Woolen Co., Arlington and Monomac mills, and the George E. Kunhardt Co., which had made a 10% cut in wages. In addition, 20,000 officers, executives salaried employees and wage earners of the 16 mills in the cotton goods manufacturing centre at New Bedford, Mass., were affected by a 10% wage cut effective the week of Dec. 7, according to announcement on Nov. 10 by the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers' Association.

Raw silk prices moved higher but lost some of the improvement on at least some grades of silk the latter part of the month. On Nov. 30 Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted at $2.20@$2.25, the same as on Oct. 31, and comparing with $2.25@$2.30 Sept. 30; $2.50@$2.55 on Aug. 31; $2.30@$2.40 on July 31; $2.35@$2.40 on June 30; $2.22½@$2.27½ May 29; $2.35@$2.40 April 30; $2.55@$2.65 March 31; $2.70@$2.75 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.95 Jan. 31; $2.60@$2.70 Dec. 31 1930; $2.35@$2.45 the previous Sept. 30, and $4.70@$4.75 on Jan. 31 1930. In the 20-22 deniers, Japanese crack double extra were quoted at $2.30@$2.32½ Nov. 30, against $2.10@$2.15 Oct. 31; $2.25@$2.35 Sept. 30; $2.45@$2.55 Aug. 31; $2.25@$2.30 July 31; $2.40@$2.50 June 30; $2.07½@$2.12½ May 29; $2.25@$2.30 April 30; $2.50@$2.60 March 31; $2.65@$2.70 Feb. 28; $2.85@$2.90 Jan. 31; $2.70@$2.75 Dec. 31 1930; $2.25@$2.30 Oct. 31 1930, but comparing with $4.60@$4.65 on Jan. 31 1930.

FEDERAL FARM BOARD ANNOUNCES CONSUMMATION OF ARRANGEMENTS TO REMOVE 6,500,000 BALES OF COTTON FROM MARKET.

The consummation of arrangements which will definitely remove at least 6½ to 7 million bales of cotton "from the supply of American cotton available for sale during the current season" was made known in a statement issued at Washington under date of Nov. 22 by the Federal Farm Board. The Board's announcement follows:

On Oct. 12 1931 a group of bankers from the cotton-growing States met in conference at New Orleans with Chairman Stone and Mr. Williams of the Federal Farm Board and the directorate of American Cotton Co-operative Association for consideration of cotton financing and marketing problems. Subject to ratification by the Farm Board, its representatives there present agreed that if the banking groups of the South would undertake to finance not less than 3,500,000 bales of cotton through making or renewing loans, secured by cotton collateral of this aggregate baleage, the Farm Board would agree to extend the obligations of the American Cotton Co-operative Association covering approximately 2,000,000 bales of cotton of the seasons 1930-31 or earlier years, to July 31 1932, unless such cotton could be sold at a price of more than 12½ cents per pound on the near month of the New York Cotton Exchange, and would further agree that the Cotton Stabilization Corporation would be authorized to maintain its present baleage of approximately 1,300,000 bales for an equal period subject to the same exception as to price.

This arrangement was subsequently ratified by the Farm Board.

The Farm Board is now in receipt of a report from Mr. Nathan Adams of Dallas, Tex., the Chairman of the Bankers' Committee appointed by the New Orleans conference to receive pledges, stating that he holds definite pledges from Southern banks to finance 3,100,000 bales of cotton in accordance with the terms of the above understanding.

The Farm Board appreciates the difficulties inherent in securing pledges for financing so large an amount of cotton within the limited time available. Although the number of pledges reported is 400,000 bales short of the goal set, we hope and expect that additional pledges covering at least this amount, will be received. The willingness of Southern bankers to guarantee credit on cotton to such an extent abundantly evidences their sympathetic attitude towards cotton, their conviction as to the basic soundness of loans on the low price level of this year's crop and their co-operation with the Farm Board in its efforts to help Southern farmers.

The Farm Board announces at this time that it will carry out its part of the agreement tentatively reached at New Orleans on Oct. 12 1931.

The consummation of these arrangements will definitely remove at least 6½ to 7 million bales from the supply of American cotton available for sale during the current season. The Farm Board appreciates the earnestness which Mr. Adams and the other bankers of the South, especially the small country banks, have shown in carrying through these arrangements, and congratulates them on their success.

RUBBER PRICES GO STILL LOWER—REDUCTION IN THE PRICE OF RUBBER TIRES.

Rubber prices sank still lower after some recovery in the early part of November. In the New York market ribbed smoked sheets were quoted at 4 5-16c. bid and 4⅜c. asked a pound on Nov. 30 which compares with 4 9-16 @4⅝c. Oct. 31; 4½@4⅝c. Sept. 30; 5@5½c. Aug. 31; 5⅝@5¾c. July 31; 6 13-16@6 15-16c. June 30; 6½c. bid May 29; 5⅞@6c. April 30; 6⅞@7c. March 31; 7⅝@7¾c. Feb. 28; 7¾@8c. Jan. 31; 8⅜@8½c. Dec. 31 1930, and 15¾@15⅞c. Feb. 28 1930. A cut in tire prices of 5 to 12% was announced on Nov. 27 by the Lee Tire & Rubber Co. Reports were current in the industry at the same time that leading mail order houses also would announce a cut effective upon issuance of new catalogues. On Nov. 30 reductions of 10 to 19% in the prices of rubber tires and tubes to dealers were announced by all the leading manufacturers. These reductions applied only to first line tires and it was believed the manufacturers were awaiting the winter price catalogues of the mail order companies before announcing a quotation on second line tires. This is the first general revision downward in several months. The new price schedules provide for a cut of 15% on all tubes, of 10% on passenger car tires, and of 10 to 19% on truck tires. The prices are the lowest ever quoted on tires or tubes.

IRON AND STEEL MARKETS STILL DEPRESSED—LIKEWISE NON-FERROUS METALS.

The iron and steel markets reflected accurately the absence of improvement in trade. In the early part of the month slightly greater activity seemed to be foreshadowed in an increase from 29% to 31% in the extent to which the steel mills of the country were engaged, but later there was again a relapse to only 29%. The best that the "Iron Age" was able to say in its issue of Nov. 26 was that the Ford Motor Co. was expected to place substantial steel orders for December rolling and in addition would contract with the steel mills for its quarter requirements calling for a minimum of 100,000 tons and that Ford's need may amount to as much as 300,000 tons of steel, although this would depend on retail sales of motor cars and that release of this business might do much toward stimulating the lagging purchases of other automobile manufacturers, since delay in Ford's production of new models had held back final plans of some other companies. Aside from the automobile companies, industrial activity, as reflected in steel orders, was still marked, it was stated, by extreme irregularities, gains in some directions being nullified by losses elsewhere. The "Age's" comments in the issue of Dec. 3 were to the same effect, saying:

Under the influence of the approaching inventory season, steel business has lost ground in some districts, but the delayed contracts of the Ford, Chevrolet and Chrysler automobile companies probably will be on mill books this week or the next and will aid in offsetting the usual year-end dullness. The Ford orders, which will range from 100,000 to 300,000 tons for December and first quarter, are to be more widely distributed than usual, affording work for several steel producing districts.

The price situation continued extremely unsatisfactory. The composite price of pig iron dropped to $14.96 per gross ton, against $15 a ton a month earlier and $16.02 12 months before. The composite price of finished steel declined from 2.116c. a lb. to 2.102c. which compared with 2.135c. 12 months before. Steel scrap remained at $8.75, which compared with $11.42 at the corresponding date in 1930.

The non-ferrous metals also gave increasing evidence of depression and of an almost complete lack of demand. This was particularly true regarding copper which was available in the domestic market at 6¼c. a lb., the lowest figure at which copper has ever sold though this was the price of the customs' smelters, the large producers holding to 6⅛@6¾c. Copper Exporters, Inc. on Nov. 20 officially reduced the export price to 7c. a lb. c.i.f. London, Havre and Hamburg, reflecting the 6¾c. domestic basis. The conference in New York City of world copper producers was brought to an end on Nov. 17 with the departure that night on the steamer Europa of the two representatives of the Union Miniere du Haut Katanga, Ferdinand Pisart and Camille Gutt, with the deadlock over Katanga's share of output under the curtailment proposal unbroken. Representatives of South African Mines also sailed at the same time. However, on Nov. 27, cable dispatches from London said that the Belgian copper interests had on that day signified that they would accept the proposals made to them for curtailing copper production during the conferences held in New York. In the New York market electrolytic copper was marked down from 6¾c. to 6.50c. Nov. 18 and then to 6.25c. on Nov. 19. and to 6c. Nov. 25 but recovered to 6.50c. Nov. 28 and was 6.25c. Nov. 30. Lake copper was reduced on Nov. 19 from 7.37½ to 6.87½c. Lead prices were also reduced though early in the month the course of values was somewhat irregular. On Nov. 4 the New York price of lead was reduced from 4.00c. to 3.85c. but on Nov. 9 there was an advance to 3.95c. and on Nov. 10 a further advance to 4.05c. followed on Nov. 19 by a reduction to 3.95c. and on Nov. 23 by a further reduction to 3.85c. Tin moved irregularly within a narrow range with the quotation Nov. 2 at 22.25 and Nov. 30 at 21.40. The International Tin Committee representing the governments of Bolivia, Netherlands East Indies, Federated Malay States, Siam and Nigeria at a meeting held at The Hague on Nov. 24 announced its decision to make an additional cut in production and export of tin of 15,000 tons yearly beginning Jan. 1 1932. This will reduce the output of the signatories for 1932 to 91,000 tons or only 56% of the 162,000 tons produced in 1929.

PETROLEUM AND ITS PRODUCTS.

Further improvement in the oil situation occurred, both crude and refined, mainly as the result of the rigid control of production in Oklahoma and the East Texas region. One further indication of the policy of the rigid control of production appeared when on Nov. 30 Governor Sterling of Texas announced that allowable production in the East Texas oil field would be reduced to 110 barrels per well daily, effective Dec 2. The existing limit was 125 barrels per well. Governor Sterling, administrator of production in the field under martial law, said the new regulation would give the area an output of about 352,000 barrels daily based on an estimated 3,200 producing wells in the field. He declared it his purpose to keep the field's production under 400,000 barrels daily. The reduction will cut 50,000 barrels from the State's aggregate daily production of about 900,000 barrels. Replying to a proposal made at Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 30 by Thurman Hill, Public Service Commissioner of Kansas, that Texas join with Kansas and Oklahoma in pinching in existing oil production allowables 10%, Governor Sterling said he had jurisdiction only over the East Texas area.

Advances in prices were general and in the following we show the leading changes of the month both in the case of crude oil and in the refined products.

THE ADVANCE AND DECLINE IN THE PRICE OF SILVER.

The further advance in the price of silver in the early part of the month was one of the distinctive features of November, but so also was the sharp reaction the latter part of the month. During October the price of the metal advanced from 15 15-16d. per oz. to 18 3-16d. In November there was a further advance to 21 9-16d. on Saturday, Nov. 14, but the following Monday Nov. 16, there came a sudden collapse and the price dropped to 18d. The price subsequently recovered to 19⅛d. Nov. 28. The quotation on Nov. 30 was 18 13-16d.

THE NOVEMBER FINANCING OF THE U. S. TREASURY.

Government financing during November consisted entirely of successive offerings of Treasury bills on a discount basis, week after week, in varying amounts, mostly to take up maturing issues of bills, but in no inconsiderable part also to provide for deficiencies in Government revenues. On Nov. 1 announcement was made of an issue of 91-day Treasury bills to the amount of $75,000,000 "or thereabouts." It was understood that the new issue was designed to meet $60,000,000 of maturing bills and the remainder to provide additional funds for the running expenses of the Government. Tenders were received up to 2 p. m. Eastern Standard Time on Friday, Nov. 6. The bills were dated Nov. 9 1931 and mature on Feb. 8 1932. Payment was required on Nov. 9. The amount applied for was $301,633,000 and the amount accepted was $75,173,000 at an average price of 99.492. This made the average rate on a bank discount basis about 2%. At the sale of 91-day bills on Oct. 29 (the sale immediately preceding, when $60,921,000 of tenders for 91-day bills were accepted) the discount basis was 2 1/3% and at the sale of $51,338,000 91-day bills on Oct. 22, the average price on a bank discount basis was 2.69%. This showed that Government borrowing on this class of obligations was again being conducted at reduced cost, but after that the cost of borrowing again increased. It deserves to be noted that out of the total allotment of $75,173,000, $25,000.000, or approximately 1/3 of the whole amount, was awarded to C. F. Childs & Co., specialists in U. S. Government securities.

The second issue of Treasury bills during November was announced by Mr. Mellon, the Secretary of the Treasury, on Nov. 8, and also consisted of 91-day bills for $75,000,000 "or thereabouts." Tenders were received up to 2 p. m. on Friday Nov. 13, and the bills were dated Nov. 16, and mature on Feb. 15 1932. Payment was required on Nov. 16. It was stated that the purpose of the issue was to retire $60,280.000 of maturing bills, the remainder going to help meet current expenses of the Government. The tenders in this instance aggregated $255,289,000, of which $75,410,000 were accepted at an average price of 99.489, the average rate on a bank discount basis being 2.02%; C. F. Childs & Co. were awarded $23,000,000 of this issue on their bid equivalent to a discount basis of 2.04%.

On Nov. 15 notice came of another issue of Treasury bills. These were 93-day bills and tenders were invited for $60,000,000 "or thereabouts" up to and including Friday, Nov. 20. They were dated Nov. 23, and mature on Feb. 23 1932. Payment was required on Nov. 23. , This issue of bills was designed to meet a like amount of maturing bills. The tenders reached $173,213,000 and out of this total $60,182,000 was alloted. The average price was 99.411 and the average rate on a bank discount basis about 2.28%, showing a substantial rise in the borrowing cost to the Government which figure was to be further increased at the next succeding sale; of this issue $12,000,000 went to C. F. Childs & Co. Another offering of 93-day Treasury bills was announced on Sunday night Nov. 22. This was for $100.000,000 "or thereabouts" and was to take care of about $80,000,000 of maturing bills, leaving $20,000,000 for addition to Treasury funds for running the Government. This issue was dated Nov. 30 1931 and will mature March 2 1932. Payment for the bills was required on Nov. 30. The total amount of bills applied for was $235,485,000 and the allotments were $100,490.000; the average price was 99.332, being an average rate of 2.59% on a bank discount basis.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN NOVEMBER.

With continued depression in the bond and stock and the commodity markets, coupled with unsatisfactory trade conditions, new financing undertaken during November was on a limited scale. While offerings of securities were not as few as the previous month, they were greatly under the total for the same period last year and consisted chiefly of public utility and municipal financing.

The largest issue of the month was the $12,000,000 offering of the Cincinnati Union Terminal Co. 1st mtge., series "B," 5% gold bonds at 97½ and accrued interest, to yield 5⅛% to maturity. Next in size was the $11,000,000 offering of the Public Service Co. of Colorado 1st mtge. & ref. 6% gold bonds, series "C," at 91 and interest, to yield about 6.70%. Below we give the month's financing, which consisted of the following offerings:

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING NOVEMBER 1931.

The stock market during November took another sharp plunge downward, the decline ranking among the severest of the whole year. Indeed, when the market as a whole is considered, instead of the selected issues which form the basis of most of the averages, it is not unlikely that the renewed break was the very worst of the year 1931. The renewed collapse followed an exhibition of strength during the first nine days of November, in continuation of the upward swing of prices inaugurated after the market had established its low for the year on Oct. 5. This recovery was of large proportions and extended with full force into November, not reaching its termination until Monday, Nov. 9. The new break, however, after the latter date was of such dimensions that it wiped out, and more than wiped out, the antecedent recovery, or what might be termed the autumn rally, and established a new low record for 1931. Taking as a standard the 50 stocks which form the basis of the averages kept by the New York "Times," there was an upward rebound from 79.07 on Oct. 5 to 104.95 on Nov. 9, but from that figure there was a drop, an almost uninterrupted drop, to 78.82 on Saturday, Nov. 28; an upward rebound on Monday, Nov. 30, left the close on that day at 83.03. In the case of the 25 railroad stocks, which form a part of the 50 stocks, the decline was from a high of 45.94 on Nov. 9 to 30.85 Nov. 30, with the close on that day at 32.68, while in the case of the 25 industrial stocks the decline during the month was from a high on Nov. 9 of 163.97 to a low of 126.77 Nov. 28, with the close on the last day of the month (as a result of the upward rebound on Nov. 30) at 133.39. Liquidation was severe and general, and yet the sales for the month on the New York Stock Exchange reached no more than 37,355,208 shares as against 51,946,840 shares in November 1930; 72,455,420 shares in November 1929, and 115,360,075 shares in November 1928. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales for the month amounted to 5,483,335 shares as against 13,348,200 shares in November 1930; 29,529,500 shares in November 1929, and 36,695,100 shares in November 1928.

In the upward swing of prices in the early part of the month and which terminated on Monday, Nov. 9, considerable bullish enthusiasm was aroused as a result of a number of favoring circumstances which appeared to be forerunners of a change for the better in the long depression in trade and business, and likewise the turning of the corner in the long-continued downward course in Stock Exchange values. Among the chief of these influences was the great rise in grain prices. This, if continued, was certain to relieve the great distress under which the Western farm classes were laboring. Another was the notable appreciation which was taking place in the market value of silver, with an upward tendency likewise in a number of other commodity prices. The result was a very spirited and confident buying of share properties. At the half-day session on Saturday, Nov. 7, dealings on the New York Stock Exchange aggregated over two million shares, being in exact figures 2,040,670 shares—a quite unusual total for two hours' business. On Monday, Nov. 9, there was a continuation of this activity, with prices still rising, and with the transactions for the day reaching 3,047,293 shares. The feeling at this time was exceedingly confident, owing to the favoring influences already cited, and in particular the sharp advance in grain prices and the further appreciation in the value of silver. Many other commodities on that day (Nov. 9) also showed improving prices. Copper futures advanced 35 to 45 points in the heaviest trading in weeks, rubber prices rose from 11 to 23 points on the New York Rubber Exchange, and hide futures were up from 55 to 85 points on the New York Hide Exchange. On the New York Cotton Exchange futures on that day rose from 13 to 16 points, and the spot price of cotton was marked up from 6.70c. to 6.85c. a pound in face of the report of the Agricultural Bureau at Washington estimating the current crop at 16,903,000 bales, or more than 600,000 bales above the Oct. 1 estimate, and comparing with an actual harvest of only 13,931,597 bales in 1930. Many of the copper stocks at this time enjoyed advances by reason of the higher price of silver, which constitutes a by-product of many of these companies. The American Smelting & Refining Co. was an instance in point, and of course the International Silver Co. was directly benefited as a result of the advance in silver.

All this, however, reached its climax on the day mentioned, and after Nov. 9 the course of prices was almost continuously downward, as already stated, owing to the failure to realize expectations in the particulars mentioned and owing also to the continued depression in trade and to the fact that unfavorable developments again kept piling up one after another. Stocks broke badly on Nov. 10 and the immediately succeeding days. Grain prices fell sharply after the long-continued advance dating back to Oct. 5, and nearly all the other commodity markets developed an easier tendency. The price of silver also moved lower. Worst of all, dividend reductions and dividend omissions came in increasing numbers, furnishing sad reminders of the havoc done by the prostration of trade and industry. The threatening outlook in the Far East, due to the military operations in Manchuria between Japan and China, constituted a new depressing influence. Sanguinary conflicts were in progress there, causing apprehensions as to the outcome of such a serious situation, with doubts and uncertainties as to how far and to what extent the United States might become embroiled in its effort, along with the League of Nations, to bring pressure to bear upon the belligerent countries. The copper stocks now became a special source of weakness owing to the lack of progress shown among the producing interests of the world in their negotiations for a general curtailment of the output of the metal. The domestic price of the metal dropped to 6½c. a pound, with some sales at 6¼c., the lowest figure on record. The downward reaction in grain prices now proved a decidedly adverse factor. New York Central stock in the railroad list and United States Steel in the industrial list continued establishing new low levels almost day after day. Dividend reductions and suspensions among the railroads now came in startling succession, involving some of the most prominent railroads in the country. The Southern Pacific Co. reduced its quarterly dividend from 1½% to 1%. The Chicago & North Western Railway passed off the dividend list entirely, omitting dividends on both the common and the preferred shares. Atlantic Coast Line declared a semi-annual dividend of only 2% on common stock; previously the company made regular semi-annual distributions of 3½% on this issue, and in addition an extra dividend of 1½% was paid each six months from July 10 1926 to and including Jan. 10 1931. The Louisville & Nashville RR. declared a semi-annual dividend of 2%, this comparing with 2½% paid on Aug. 10 1931 and with 3½% each six months previously. On Monday, Nov. 23, there came the staggering news that the railroad unions had rejected the plea of the railroad executives for a voluntary reduction in wage scales of 10%. This dealt a sharp blow to the market. The action was deemed adverse, not alone to railroad interests, but to business interests in general, since the conviction was strong that before there could be any great recovery in trade the railroads must once more be placed firmly upon their feet, and it was also felt that such rehabilitation of the railroads could only be reached by the lowering of railway operating costs, to which reduction railway labor must contribute in some equitable degree.

A further adverse development was the decline in the foreign exchanges, especially the collapse in the rate for the pound sterling. On Monday, Nov. 23, there was an unexpected slump in exchange on London, the price of which dropped over 6c. in the pound sterling, and this proved only a prelude to still heavier declines in the sterling rate on succeeding days, so that on Monday, Nov. 30, the range for cable transfers on London was only $3.39@$3.46 against $3.72¼@$3.73¼ on Saturday, Nov. 21. To add to the prevailing gloom the bond market once more collapsed. The poor showing of the railroads in their monthly earnings for October, the returns for which came to hand the latter part of November, served further to depress the railroad shares, carrying most of them to further new low levels for the year. So, day by day, the stock market kept moving lower and still lower. After the Thanksgiving holiday on Thursday, Nov. 26, the break still continued, further severe declines marking the course of values on Friday, Nov. 27, and Saturday, Nov. 28, though the following Monday, Nov. 30, after a further dip to the lowest figures of the month and year, a sharp upward rebound occurred in the closing hours of the session.

Among individual stocks the fluctuations in New York Central stock among the railroads and United States Steel among the industrial properties attract the most attention. New York Central declined from 55⅝ Nov. 11 to 28 Nov. 30; the previous February this stock was still selling at 132¼, and in August 1929 it sold as high as 256½. United States Steel dropped from 74⅞ Nov. 9 to 53 Nov. 30; the previous February this stock sold at 152⅜, and in September 1929 it sold at 291¾. All the railroads were under severe pressure during the month, and their record of decline is indeed a sorry one. Atchison dropped from 121¼ Nov. 11 to 87⅝ Nov. 30, which compares with 203⅜ the previous February and with 298⅜ in August 1929. Baltimore & Ohio fell from 39½ Nov. 9 to 22 Nov. 30, which compares with 87⅞ the previous February and with 145⅛ September 1929. Pennsylvania stock sold down from 34⅝ Nov. 9 (for the $50 shares) to 22 Nov. 28; the previous February this stock sold at 64, and in August 1929 it sold at 110. Union Pacific declined from 115 Nov. 9 to 78½ Nov. 30; the previous February it sold at 205⅛, and in August 1929 it touched 297⅝. And these illustrations might be continued almost indefinitely. In the industrial list American Tel. & Tel. dropped from 147 Nov. 9 to 124½ Nov. 28; J. I. Case from 57⅞ Nov. 9 to 36 Nov. 27; Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing from 52¼ Nov. 9 to 32⅜ Nov. 30; General Electric from 35 Nov. 9 to 26⅛ Nov. 21; North American from 46⅜ Nov. 9 to 33⅝ Nov. 28; American Water Works & Electric from 42⅜ Nov. 9 to 27¾ Nov. 27; Allied Chemical & Dye from 99¼ Nov. 9 to 73⅛ Nov. 28, and American Smelting & Refining from 36¼ Nov. 9 to 22¼ Nov. 25; Standard Oil of New Jersey, notwithstanding the announcement that the company had called for redemption $30,000,000 of its debentures, which was construed as a very favorable feature, also moved lower, the stock declining from 37¾ Nov. 9 to 31⅝ Nov. 30.

As already stated, the bond market was also again extremely weak. Without attempting to enumerate conspicuous instances of decline, of which there are many, we will follow our usual course and simply introduce here the following tables containing an extended list of bond issues of all the various classes and types:

THE MONEY MARKET DURING NOVEMBER 1931.

Gold withdrawals from the Federal Reserve bank for export and for ear-marking came virtually to an abrupt end the latter part of October and the result was that during November the N. Y. money market showed a softening tendency, though the manifestation of this was confined largely to the rates for bankers acceptances; and the acceptance market also was the division of the money market which mainly reflected a slight stiffening of rates again in the closing days of November. Though the rates for bankers acceptances moved downward they remained relatively high and proved quite attractive to foreign central banks and these once more began to add to their bill investments in this market, though possibly this statement should be taken to apply very largely to the Bank of France and maybe almost exclusively to that foreign central institution. Whether as a result of the visit to this country of Pierre Laval some understanding was arrived at between France and the United States or because acceptances could be bought so as to yield a much higher rate of return than before (owing to the tremendous gold takings on French account and on account of other foreign countries) French policy did change as regards the purchase of bills in this market. It is admitted on every side that France had further large balances in this country that could have been withdrawn if it had been deemed expedient or politic. In the case of other foreign central banks it may be questioned whether the balances still held here were of very great magnitude, though the Bank of England still had $75,000,000 of the $125,000,000 credit originally obtained from the American Federal Reserve Banks available, even if not actually in use, and likewise still had the $200,000,000 1 year credit obtained from a syndicate of private bankers headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. at its command. The point is that confidence in the stability of the American dollar which appeared to be waning when gold withdrawals on this side were proceeding so steadily, and on such a tremendous scale, appeared to have been completely restored and the disposition to engage in further withdrawals of the metal seemed completely to vanish. This and the higher yield to be obtained on bill purchases served to add very greatly to the total of foreign purchases of bills in the N. Y. market. The evidence of this is furnished in the item in the weekly returns of the Federal Reserve banks, in which these institutions report their "contingent liability on bills purchased for foreign correspondents" meaning foreign central banks. On Oct. 14, this item was down to $40,571,000 but by Oct. 28 it had increased to $82,879,000: during November there was a further increase so that the amount Dec. 2 stood at $134,053,000.

The suspension of the gold outflow had one beneficial effect; that is, the Federal Reserve banks were once more able to re-enforce their gold holdings, which had been heavily reduced by the enormous outflow of the metal during September and October, the re-enforcement process being greatly aided by large importations of the metal at San Francisco from Japan and China. The N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank reports $78,600,000 gold received on the Pacific Coast during November, $76,000,000 of this coming from Japan and $1,100,000 from China. The movement was the more noteworthy in view of the military conflict between Japan and China which was in progress in Manchuria. With large accessions of new gold the Federal Reserve Banks were able very greatly to improve their ratio of reserves to deposit and Reserve note liabilities which had been so heavily reduced while the gold outflow was in progress. On Oct. 28, this ratio (the ratio of total reserves to deposit and Federal Reserve note liabilities combined) was down to 59.9%. By Dec. 2 this ratio had been raised to 65.6%. Such a change for the better would necessarily serve to strengthen confidence in the financial order, notwithstanding that even after this change for the better, the ratio remained far below that in the corresponding week of the previous year, the figure for Dec. 3 1930 having been 79.8%.

What passed entirely unnoticed was that the large Government deposits arising out of the sale of the $803,294,400 of 3% Treasury bonds the previous September were being rapidly reduced through successive calls for the repayment of such deposit. These deposits were of unusual size amounting to $624,844,000, of which $204,486,000 were on deposit in the N. Y. Federal Reserve District. The first call for the repayment of these deposits came close on the heels of the sale of the bonds, namely on Sept. 21, and called for the repayment of $14,840,000 on Sept. 24, and the same amount on Sept. 25, of which $4,856,200 on each of the two days represented deposits in the N. Y. Federal Reserve District. And the result of the successive subsequent calls upon the banks was that with the call on Nov. 24, for repayment on Dec. 1, of $16,893,600 (of which $5,523,500 represented deposits in the N. Y. Federal Reserve District) there remained only $88,691,900 of such deposits with the depositary banks (of which $28,998,300 consisted of deposits in the N. Y. District). The matter was of importance simply, because banks holding such Government deposits are not obliged to hold any reserve against the same, whereas when the amounts represented by the deposits passes into the U. S. Treasury and then are paid out by the latter and become ordinary bank deposits, the customary reserves against such deposits are required. The process of change appeared to impose not the slightest strain upon the money market.

An important development of the month was the action of the N. Y. Clearing House Banks in passing an amendment to the Clearing House constitution prohibiting members of the Clearing House from any longer making brokers' loans on behalf of their depositors where the banks act only as intermediaries in the making of the loans. These loans, in precise terms, bear the designation of "loans made for account of others" as distinguished from the two other categories of loaning, namely "loans for own account" and "loans for account of out of town banks." At its meeting on Nov. 5, the New York Clearing House Association adopted an amendment to its constitution providing that "No member of this Association (nor any non-member clearing through a member) shall directly or indirectly make or attend to the service of any loan for the account of any person, firm or corporation other than a bank, banker or trust company where such loan is secured in whole or in part by stocks and (or) bonds and (or) acceptances." This represents a move to get rid of a class of loans commonly known as "bootleg loans" because they are not under the direct control of the banks, but rather are under the control of the individuals and corporations on whose behalf the loans are made. A further objection is that not being loans made by the banks themselves no cash reserves are kept against the deposits representing the loans. Because of the absence of such reserves they become an element of great danger at the time of a crisis such as attended the stock market collapse in the autumn of 1929.

In 1928 and 1929, during the period of the stock market craze, these loans "for others" assumed prodigious proportions, the total of the same reaching an aggregate of no less than $3,941,000,000 on Oct. 9 1929. At that time it would have been impossible for the Clearing House to undertake the change now carried into effect. But since then, with stock market speculation steadily dwindling, and with interest rates so low as to remove the inducement to outsiders for indulging in this class of loaning, the amount of such loans, even before the action of the Clearing House tabooing them, had almost reached the vanishing point, the amount for Nov. 11 having been only $162,000,000. On Nov. 18 but $12,000,000 remained of these loans for account of others. The new rule went into effect on Nov. 16.

The abolition of these outside loans involved the taking over of the greater part of such loans by the banks themselves and to that extent placed an added burden on them, but, as just stated, the amount of such outside loans had been reduced to a mere remnant and the process was accomplished without incident. Call loans on the Stock Exchange remained unchanged throughout the month, day after day, at 2½%. In the outside market funds were available at every session at 2%, or a concession of ½ of 1% with the exception of one solitary day. This was on Monday, Nov. 16, the day when the amendment to the Clearing House constitution became effective. Things dropped back to the normal, however, the very next day and from then on loans outside the Stock Exchange were again obtainable at a concession.

In the case of time loans on Stock Exchange collateral, the flurry in that branch of the market which was in evidence during October, in great part disappeared during November, and rates eased off somewhat though quotations were entirely nominal as there was little or no movement in this branch of the market and absolutely no interest was displayed in this class of loans. In the early part of the month rates for all dates were 3½% bid and 4% asked. Then the rates for all dates dropped to 3% bid and 3½% asked. The latter part of the month rates for 30 to 60 day money were 2½% bid, 3% asked, for 90-day accomodation 3¼% bid and 3½% asked, and for 4 to 6 months 3½% bid and 4% asked. However these were merely nominal quotations, as already stated, and each transaction was considered all by itself. The daily records of time loans is shown in the table which follows:

No change occurred during the month in the market for commercial paper, dealings at all times being restricted by the dearth of the offerings. The latter part of the month the demand was quite brisk, but the supply of paper continued inadequate. Rates remained unchanged, quotations for choice names of 4 to 6 months maturity being 3¾@4¼% while names less well-known commanded 4½%. On some very short maturities of high grade, some transactions at 3½% were reported at the close of the month. The "Monthly Review" of the N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank in its remarks with reference to commercial paper said the smallness of the current supply of paper was indicated by the dealers' reports of their paper outstanding which on Oct. 31 showed a total of $210,000,000, which was 15% less than the amount outstanding a month earlier and 57% below the October 1930 figure.

In discussing credit conditions generally, the New York Federal Reserve Bank made the following interesting comments.

"The general tendency in recent weeks has been toward a continued, though less rapid, liquidation of bank credit. In the three weeks ended November 18, the total loans and investments of reporting member banks declined $219,000,000, as compared with a decline of $886,000,000 during October. Approximately two-thirds of the November reduction was in the investments of these banks, and the remainder in loans other than security loans. As in the previous month the decline in the deposits of these banks, amounting to $359,000,000, was larger than the decline in loans and investments. The November decline in deposits, like that in loans and investments, was at a considerably less rapid rate than in October, when the deposits of reporting banks declined more than $1,400,000,000.

"Altogether, the available reports indicate a total shrinkage in bank credit of around $5,500,000,000 since 1929, and an accompanying shrinkage in bank deposits of nearly $7,000,000,000. In actual amount these figures represent by far the largest liquidation of bank credit and bank deposits which has ever occurred in this country and, in proportion to the amount outstanding, the largest shrinkage since 1893."

As in the month immediately preceding the real activity of the month was in the acceptance market, but the course of this market was in sharp contrast with that during October. Whereas during the greater part of October the demand for bills was almost entirely extinct, foreign buying of bills being wholly absent, while at the same time there was scarcely any domestic demand for bills, during November on the other hand all this was changed and a new demand for bills sprung up with great rapidity. Foreign demand for bills revived and a considerable inquiry also developed for home account. As already noted, the weekly Federal Reserve returns show that the holdings of acceptances by the Federal Reserve Banks for account of foreign central banks, after having dropped to only $40,571,000 Oct. 14, increased week by week thereafter and Dec. 2, aggregated $134,053,000. Not only that, but while during September and October the Federal Reserve Banks appeared to be the only market for bills and they were obliged to take over huge masses of bills tendered to them both on domestic and foreign account, the situation was entirely reversed in November. The bill holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions reached their maximum at $769,066,000 October 21. Thereafter they rapidly declined and on Dec. 2 the amount was down to $423,407,000. Quite early in the month, that is, on Nov. 5, open market rates for acceptances were reduced ⅛ of 1% on all maturities and a similar reduction occurred the next day (Friday Nov 6) except that rates on this last mentioned day were reduced ¼% on bills running 150 and 180 days. On Monday Nov. 9, another reduction of ⅛ of 1% for all maturities occurred and on Friday Nov. 13, still another cut of ⅛ of 1% on all maturities was made. This brought rates down to 3% bid and 2⅞% asked for bills running 30, 60, and 90 days, to 3¼% bid and 3% asked for 120 days and to 3⅞% bid and 3⅝% asked for 150 day and 180 day maturities. The latter part of the month however, new supplies of bills were created in excess of the demand and the result was that on Nov. 25 rates were marked up again ⅛ of 1% on 30, 60, and 90 day maturities.

The American Acceptance Council in its Monthly Bulletin, released on Nov. 12, pointed out that after a steady decline in the volume of bankers acceptances outstanding in each month sinec Nov. 1930, the total for the month of Oct. 1931, showed an increase of $43,419,901, raising the amount to $1,039,784,979, which, however, compared with $1,508,243,726 on Oct. 31 1930, a decrease of $468,458,747 for the 12 months. In speaking of the increase during October Robert H. Bean, the Executive Secretary of the Acceptance Council, remarked that the feature of the current report was the unusually heavy increase shown in the total of acceptances based on goods in domestic warehouses. This class of bills, he pointed out, increased $51,391,348 during the month, thus wholly accounting for the better showing in the total volume of acceptances. He added; "It clearly marks the beginning of the seasonal movement of agricultural commodities such as cotton, grain, tobacco, beet sugar, and canned goods, from the production point to warehouse distributing location. The next evidence of this movement should be seen in an increase in exports. The gain in warehouse credits in the current report is almost exactly the gain reported for this type of bills in the corresponding month in 1930 when they increased from $174,000,000 in September to $234,000,000 in October. Aside from the warehouse credit acceptances, other types of bills varied only moderately in volume."

In an article in the Council's bulletin, in discussing the situation which developed during October when the Federal Reserve Banks were obliged to take over such huge amounts of bills, in the complete absence of other buyers of bills, Mr. Bean gives some interesting figures to show how thorough had been the absorption of bills at the time of the crises in the acceptance market, saying; "How completely the market was cleared of bills can be appreciated when it is shown that of an estimated total of bills of all classes and maturities on Oct. 21, amounting to $960,000,000, the Federal Reserve Banks held $837,000,000, of which $769,000,000 were for their own account, and $68,000,000 were for the account of foreign correspondents. Of the remaining $123,000,000 outside the system, the bill dealers held about $35,000,000, about $20,000,000 were of bills of interior banks not at present in demand, and about $15,000,000 were of bills of an ineligible nature for one reason or another. This left approximately $53,000,000 as the sum total of all bills outstanding or in the banks' hands, an amount sufficient for about a half day business in a normal market. Within a few days the dealers' portfolios were down to a little over $15,000,000 in the aggregate, the banks had no bills to sell and the market was able to start on the new rate basis with such a supply of new or green bills as the banks created from day to day. Heretofore there has been an ebb and flow of bills that has kept the wheels moving, but on this occasion nearly all the bills are in the Federal Banks and as the Federal buys from, but never sells to, the market. the total volume is therefore locked up to be held until maturity."

Only one change occurred in the rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve Banks. The Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank on Nov. 13 raised its rate from 3% to 3½% effective Nov. 14.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS' LOANS.

The record of the Federal Reserve Banks during November was one of improvement after the severe trial experienced during September and October. The cessation of the gold outflow and the other causes responsible for the change have already been discussed in our comments on the money market. There was general deflation after the previous inflation, which of course was a favorable feature, even if the deflation was relatively small alongside the antecedent inflation. The total of Reserve credit outstanding, as measured by the bill and security holdings, after having risen from $1,238,564,000 Sept. 16 to $2,224,398,000 Oct. 21, declined to $1,888,227,000 Dec. 2. The contraction occurred under all the different heads in which Reserve credit is employed. But the largest diminution was in the holding of bills purchased in the open market. These holdings had risen from $217,770,000 Sept. 16 to $769,066,000 Oct. 21, and now fell back to $423,407,000 Dec. 2. In like manner the discount holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions, reflecting direct borrowing by the member banks, which had increased from $262,994.000 Sept. 16 to $716,680,000 Oct. 28, moved towards a lower basis, and Nov. 18 were down to $662,041,000, though rising again to $717,567,000 Dec. 2. The holdings of U. S. government securities varied very little during this period, or rather since Oct. 14, the total of such holdings being maintained in the neighborhood of $727,000,000, but the last week declined to $717,021,000 Dec. 2. Simultaneously the gold holdings of the Reserve banks again increased largely as the result of the imports from Japan and China, and the heavy outflow of the metal having been checked with the end of the previous month. Total gold holdings of the 12 Reserve banks, which had declined from $3,485,739,000 Sept. 16 to $2,738,431,000 Oct. 28, increased again to $2,941,570,000 Dec. 2. The result was that the ratio of total reserves to deposits and Federal Reserve liabilities, which had dropped from 84.3% July 29 to 59.9% Oct. 28, recovered to 65.6% Dec. 2. One item that did not change for the better was the volume of Federal Reserve notes in circulation. This kept steadily rising, reaching a total of $2,449,959,000 Nov. 11, and after then decreasing to $2,433,392,000 Nov. 18, increased again to $2,445,726,000 Nov. 25 and to $2,478,130,000 Dec. 2. Twelve months before, on Dec. 3 1930, the amount was only $1,450,898,000. The deposits of foreign banks with the Federal Reserve institutions after having declined from $231,387,000 Oct. 14 to $131,431,000 Nov. 4, increased again to $145,656,000 Nov. 25, and were $137,136,000 Dec. 2.

Broker's loans showed still further contraction during the month. In the case of the banks in this city which are required to make returns to the Federal Reserve Bank of N. Y. an incident was the action of the N. Y. Clearing House Association in amending its constitution (as detailed above in our review of the money market) so as to prohibit any further loaning on behalf of outside lenders, or, as the item is termed, "loans for account of others" as distinguished from loans "for own account" and loans "for account of out of town banks." The change went into effect on Monday Nov. 16, and the loans for account of others which previously had been reduced to $162,000,000 fell to $12,000,000 Nov. 18 and was $21,000,000 Dec. 2. The grand total of all brokers' loans fell from $831,000,000 Nov. 11 to $775,000,000 Nov. 18, and while the loans for account of others fell, as already stated, from $162,000,000 to $12,000.000, the loans for own account in that week rose from $553,000,000 to $623,000,000, and loans for account of out-of-town banks increased from $116,000,000 to $140,000,000. The feature, however, of these brokers' loans was that the contraction in the grand total of the loans continued after the change the same as before, and the elimination of the outside loans appeared to have little if any effect in checking the downward course of brokers' borrowing. In other words the total of the broker's loans by the banks which contribute figures to the weekly statements of the Federal Reserve Bank declined further from $869,000,000 Oct. 28 to $751,000,000 Nov. 25, and to $720,000,000 Dec. 2. The monthly statement of Stock Exchange borrowings as compiled by the N. Y. Stock Exchange itself also showed further contraction, the total of such borrowings on Nov. 30 being reported at $730,151,908 against $796,268,768 on Oct. 31; $1,044,407,879 Sept. 30, and $1,354,067,350 Aug. 31.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING NOVEMBER.

A further sharp break in the course of sterling exchange occurred during November, rates dropping even lower then in the days immediately following Great Britain's departure from the gold standard on Sept. 21. Rates sharply receded from the very first day of the month, or rather from Nov. 2, Nov. 1 having been Sunday. Several factors appeared to have contributed to the weakness. One cause assigned for the break at that time was the action of the Bank of England in having arranged to repay $50,000,000 of the $125,000,000 credit extended to it by the Federal Reserve Banks on Aug. 1, and which credit expired on Oct. 31. A similar payment was made on account of the $125,000,000 credit extended by the Bank of France, the result being that the two credits combined for a total of $250,000,000 were reduced to only $150,000,000. Foreign exchange traders also asserted that there had been a cessation of the repatriation of British funds which had previously lent support to sterling. Furthermore now that confidence in British affairs had been restored by the overwhelming success of the British Nationalists under the leadership of J. Ramsay MacDonald, at the October elections, large British banking and insurance companies as well as private interests in London which had refrained from the purchase of foreign securities, because of patriotic motives, now felt released, it was claimed, from these restrictions and as a matter of sound business policy began redistributing their funds abroad. Besides this it was generally admitted that sterling had been receiving official support for several weeks, to maintain the rate around $3.90 or as near as practicable to $4. Bankers got the impression that official support had now been withdrawn from the pound and that London was determined to let the currency find its normal commercial level.

The feeling even then appeared to be that the rate would gradually go lower just as actually happened. One reason for this conviction was that if the rate was left without official support, the course of sterling would necessarily be downward until after the turn of the year, since sterling as a seasonal matter would be under severe pressure in order to make payment for the large imports of grain and cotton incident to the season of year. The present season moreover payments for importation of goods were sure to be extra large because of the desire to get goods into the country before the new import taxes should be imposed. After the break in the rate at the opening of the month sterling showed an upward reaction, but this proved only temporary; then the decline was resumed and at an accelerated pace. Aside from normal seasonal pressure resulting from the importation of foodstuffs and other raw materials, the pound sterling was inclined to be weak because of the almost complete cessation of tourist expenditures by Americans abroad. A further element of weakness, as already indicated, was the apparent inrush of foreign goods in anticipation of higher British tariffs. While such goods did not require immediate payment, the pound was depressed in anticipation of the payments. In order to appreciate the part that the higher tariff duties were playing in affecting the course of sterling it should be noted that the British Government acted with great speed in its policy of protective tariffs, for which the previous month's election was regarded as having given the MacDonald cabinet a clear and emphatic mandate. Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, introduced a measure in Parliament on Monday Nov. 16, whereunder the British Board was given authority to levy an import duty of up to 100% ad valorem on all manufactured goods abroad. This "abnormal imports act" was rushed through all Parliamentary stages and made effective on Nov. 20. It is an emergency measure, conferring special powers on the Board of Trade for a period of six months to prevent dumping while the proposed tariff is under consideration in Parliament. In explaining the measure Mr. Runciman stated that goods had been reaching Britain in abnormal quantities in anticipation of the enactment of a new scheme of tariff duties. The need for a check, he stated, was obvious in order to "reduce the strain upon our purchasing capacity." Although the extraordinary powers conferred expire in six months they would be renewed or something else would take their place, he added. "As this is a forestalling bill for a comparatively short period to keep the field clear for future action we have not included agriculture, because forestalling agriculture in its nature is scarcely practical to any serious extent." It was revealed during the course of the discussion that the anti-dumping measure would not apply to imports from the British dominions.

No doubt also the uncertainty regarding the date of the return to the gold standard and the rate at which stabilization would be undertaken exercised a depressing influence upon sterling. Prime Minister MacDonald, in his speech at the Mansion House dinner at London on Nov. 9, speaking with reference to that matter, said: "We intend as soon as practicable to take steps which will most surely tend to stabilize the pound on a definite basis, which will make it independent of speculative movements or day-to-day transactions. But stabilization must depend on factors outside our separate control. In the meantime the main objective of our policy will be substantial maintenance of the internal purchasing value of sterling. The stabilizing of sterling is one of the essentials of healthy world trade, and his Majesty's Government will be at the greatest pains to help create conditions which will promote this step being taken." In the House of Commons on Nov. 17 the subject was also guardedly discussed by Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the new MacDonald government. Asked if the government contemplated an early return to the gold standard, Mr. Chamberlain replied: "There are a number of important conditions, some of which are not subject to our control, which must be satisfied before the stabilization of sterling in terms of gold can be contemplated. Our immediate object is to balance the budget, rectify our adverse trade balance, and maintain the internal purchasing value of the pound."

On Nov. 30 cable transfers sold as low as 3.39, the range for that day having been 3.39@3.46. This compared with $3.71½@$3.78 on Nov. 2. The London money market showed considerable evidence of stringency, and open market rates got very close to the Bank of England rate of 6%. In the London open market discounts for short bills on Nov. 30 were quoted at 5¾@6% and discounts for bills running 3 months 5%@6%. The London Stock Exchange committee on Nov. 9 relaxed the regulations imposed when Great Britain passed off the gold standard by allowing a resumption of dealings for fortnightly account beginning Nov. 16. It was stated however that no carry-over rates would be allowed and no future dealings beyond each fortnight, so that transactions must be settled at the end of each fortnight. The Bank of England was not able to re-enforce its gold holdings and in fact these holdings were heavily reduced. In the week ending Nov. 4 the Bank reported a loss in gold in the large sum of £15,028,617, but this had been expected, inasmuch as it had been announced on Oct. 31 that the Bank had sold £14,999,076 in gold bars, presumably as part of the arrangement for reducing the credit granted the previous Aug. 1 by the Bank of France and our Federal Reserve Banks in amount of $50,000,000 each. In the week ending Nov. 11 the Bank showed a loss in gold of £72,217; in the week ending Nov. 18 a loss of £65,620, in the week ending Nov. 25 a loss of £86,705 and in the week ending Dec. 2 a loss of £84,000. The New York Federal Reserve Bank states that a total of £785,000 South African gold arrived in the London market during November, of which £365,000 was taken for the continent, £180,000 for the United States, and the balance for the trade at varying prices.

Canadian exchange remained at a heavy discount and the discount kept steadily increasing, ranging on Nov. 30 at 13⅝@14⅜; $6,100,000 gold was received from the Dominion during the month according to the compilations of the N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank. Dispatches from Toronto on Nov. 5 stated that the Toronto Stock Exchange had lifted minimum price restrictions on a number of additional stocks, and that there was now free trading on both the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges in securities that had been "pegged" under $5 a share.

With reference to the gold movement into and out of the United States the Monthly Review of the N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank, in presenting its usual monthly compilation and analysis, had the following to say:

"The gold movement was reversed abruptly at the end of October and during the month of November the monetary gold stock of the United States was increased about $129,000,000, due principally to imports of $76,000,000 from Japan at San Francisco and a net decrease of $28,300,000 in gold held under earmark for foreign account. In addition, $6,100,000 of gold was received from Canada, $4,800,000 from India, and $300,000 from England at the Port of New York; also $1,500,000 from China and $1,100,000 from Australia at San Francisco. Exports totaled about $4,400,000 of which $3,000,000 went to Turkey, $700,000 to Peru, and $250,000 to Switzerland. The November gain of gold reduced the net decline in this country's gold stock for the year to date to about $174,000,000."

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

Rates on the leading Continental centres of Europe also moved sharply lower. Perhaps the reasons were much the same as in the case of the decline in sterling, namely that it was the season of the year when exchange rates normally move lower because of payments to be made for heavy importations of grain, cotton and many other products, besides which there were the current year the doubts and uncertainties regarding the currency units of so many European countries arising out of the departure of Great Britain from the gold standard, which in turn had the effect of pulling so many other countries off the gold basis. Moreover, many European countries had weakened their exchange position with reference to the American dollar by converting their balances here into gold and then shipping the gold from America back home. Besides all this the collapse of such a prominent currency unit as the pound sterling could not but lead to sympathetic depression in other currency units. An illustration of this was seen in the decline in exchange on the Scandinavian countries, which owing to their intimate trade relations with Great Britain always move more or less in accord with the British pound. Even the French franc was not exempt from the general downward tendency of exchange rates, and cable transfers on Paris Nov. 30 were 3.90 15/16@3.91¼ against 3.93 1/16@93¾ on Nov. 4. It was recognized quite early in November that with the franc quoted so much lower further gold takings here in the United States for French account were out of the question and the latter part of the month with French exchange still moving downward there was even talk of the possibility of French gold exports to the United States though no one looked for actual shipments of the metal to this side. French balances here were still of large proportions and if the step became necessary it was felt that some of the metal available here to France would be transferred to American control. As the Bank of France was again investing in American acceptances it was deemed not unlikely that some transfers of the kind would be necessary.

In any event it was considered certain that in any gold movements, one way or the other, the French authorities and the Federal Reserve authorities would act in very close accord. This followed inevitably from the fact that in the joint statement issued on Oct. 25 by President Hoover and the French Premier, Pierre Laval, there was an express declaration in favor of the gold standard, the exact phraseology of this declaration being: Particularly we are convinced of the importance of monetary stability as an essential factor in the restoration of normal economic life in the world, in which the maintainance of the gold standard in France and the United States will serve as a major influence." The Bank of France as a result of the large gold importations from the United States was able to make further large additions to its gold holdings during November, but the latter part of the month the additions dwindled. In the week ending Nov. 6 the Bank of France reported an increase of 2,932,367,147 francs; in the week ending Nov. 13 there was a slight loss namely 268,960 francs; in the week ending Nov. 20 there was again a gain in amount of 95,373,517 francs, while in the week ending Nov. 27 the Bank reported an increase of 169,000,000 francs. Apparently France was facing new conditions. The international balance of payments seemed to be turning more and more against France with the trade deficit mounting month by month. Invisible credits, especially those represented by tourist travel, were greatly shrunken and heavy purchasing of wheat appeared inevitable owing to the mediocre crops, while the seasonal importation of raw materials was certain to make its influence felt.

While the Bank of France was able further to enlarge its gold holdings, the Bank of Germany on the other hand had its stock of the metal heavily reduced. In the first quarter of the month the Reichsbank reported a loss of 43,241,000 marks, in the second quarter a loss of 63,290,000 marks, in the third quarter a loss of 29,457,000 marks, and in the final quarter of the month a further loss of 3,623,000 marks. A third payment amounting to 37,500,000 or 15% of the whole of the foreign mark balances held in Germany under the "standstill" agreement was made to foreign creditors by German banks the latter part of the month. This made a total of about $175,000,000 thus far transferred in payment of the mark balances, notwithstanding large losses of gold and foreign exchange by the Reichsbank. As the standstill agreement, however, expires on Feb. 29 1932 anxiety as to what course to pursue at that time began to disturb the creditors under the agreement and accordingly a meeting of the New York banks was held at the Federal Reserve Bank. At this meeting it was decided to appoint a special committee, for the purpose of guiding the policies and action of the New York banks during the negotiations with the German private banks and those of other creditor countries regarding the short term commercial credits affected by the standstill agreement. Albert H. Wiggin of the Chase National Bank was appointed as Chairman of the Committee with four other members, namely, George W. Davison, F. Abbott Boodhue, Charles E. Mitchell and William C. Potter. This special committee thereupon received an invitation from the committee of the German private banks to attend a meeting to be held in Berlin with the representatives of the various foreign banking committees on or about Dec. 10, which meeting it was pointed out in newspaper comment would be concurrent in time with meetings of a special Committee on German reparations. Bankers in the United States made it plain however that they considered the two matters entirely separate. The war payments in the view of the American bankers, constitute a political debt to be handled by political means ultimately. The commercial debts, on the other hand, were contracted, it is contended, by German banks and industries for the purpose of carrying on German business. A default in the latter obligations would destroy German credit and paralyze Germany's commercial future by cutting off from German banks and business institutions the normal foreign credit accomodations essential to trade with other nations.

It was announced officially at Berlin on Nov. 19 that the Franco-German negotiations which had been in progress between the two countries concerning the scope of the functions of the special committee to be appointed under the Young plan, to consider Germany's capacity to pay reparations, had been brought to a successful conclusion and that the German Government had on that day sent forward to Basle by mail a formal request asking the Bank for International Settlements to appoint a committee for this purpose. A similar letter was sent to the French Government and to other interested parties. Berlin insisted that it could not pay both loans and war debt and desired to give commercial loans priority over war debts, but on the other hand Premier Laval in a speech in defense of his foreign policy told the Chamber of Deputies on Nov. 26 that France would not permit German private debts to be put ahead of reparations. "We will accept rearrangements for a limited time," he said, "but will not consent to a revision of reparations unless reductions in an equal measure at least are consented to with respect to war debts. We will demand payment of the unconditional annuities, and we will not accede to priority being given to private debts over our reparations."

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York on Nov. 2 announced that in association with other Federal Reserve Banks it had agreed to renew its participation in the outstanding credit arrangement with the Reichsbank. This credit was originally opened on June 25 as a three-week accomodation and has been repeatedly renewed in the interval. The Federal Reserve participation was $25,000,000 and the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the Bank for International Settlements also contributed $25,000,000 each, making the total credit $100,000,000. Notwithstanding all the difficulties under which Germany had been laboring the German mark, while at times weak, did not show the downward tendency common to the rest of the European exchanges. As a matter of fact, cable transfers on Berlin on Nov. 30 were quoted at 23.67@23.77 as against 23.60@23.70 on Nov. 2. It was pointed out, however, that trading was at a minimum and the relative steadiness of German exchange was not to be deemed strange when it was considered that Germany money rates of all kinds are virtually pegged and that through Government decree severe restrictions are imposed on foreign exchange trading. The fluctuations in the Italian lira during November were encompassed within a narrow range and cable transfers on Italy were quoted at 5.15@5.16½ Nov. 30 as against 5.11@5.17 on Nov. 2.

Changes in central bank rates during November were not very numerous. The Austria National Bank on Nov. 11 reduced its discount rate from 10 to 8% and the Bank of Danzig on Nov. 24 reduced its rate from 6% to 5%. The Bank of Japan on Nov. 4 raised its rate from 5.84% to 6.57% while on Nov. 12 the South African rate was raised from 5% to 6%. On Nov 29 the rediscount rate in Ecuador was raised to the highest in history by the Central Bank because of the great demand on the gold reserves which already were below the legal limit. The new rate to member banks is now 11.5 and to the public 13.5%. The gold reserve of the Central Bank is slightly below 50% it was stated, the legal limit, and the Central Bank must pay a fine of 3% of the deficiency. Congress is considering reducing the legal reserve of the Central Bank to 40% of the total circulation. The shrinkage in reserves it was explained is partly due to a drop in sterling deposits but there is a great demand for foreign exchange from the public.

Exchange on the countries neutral during the war was quite generally soft, due partly to seasonal pressure, but in part also sympathetic with the action of the pound sterling. On Monday Nov. 23 the Scandinavian exchanges broke on average from 40 to 60 points on the decision of the Swedish Riksbank to abandon its attempt to peg the crown at 18.5 kr. to the pound. The Bank requested the co-operation of bankers and others to restrict the demand for foreign exchange whenever possible. Swedish, Norwegian and Denmark exchanges were all quoted at 20c. flat at one time on Saturday Nov. 21 which compares with dollar parity of 26.80. They broke still lower later in the month. In fact cable transfers on Denmark were down to 18.98⅜@19.00 on Nov. 30 as against 21.50@21.60 on Nov 2, while cable transfers on Sweden were 18.95@19.04⅜ Nov 30 against 22.04@22.25 Nov. 2 and cable transfers on Norway 18.80¾@18.85 Nov. 30 against 21.20@21.40 Nov. 2. On Nov. 18 the currency bills of the Danish Government prolonging for three months the suspension of gold redemption and also introducing several restrictions were adopted by both houses of the Rigstag. Urgent measures were taken to halt the flight of Danish capital abroad. The Minister of Commerce was thus authorized by the Danish importers to transfer moneys received from other countries to their corresponding Danish values and to take measures for controlling the introduction and sale for foreign account of stocks and shares from foreign sources. On Nov. 18 also in Stockholm the Riksbank adopted some mild restriction owing to the continued abnormal demand for foreign currency. The Riksbank alone undertook to negotiate transactions in foreign currency. Other banks are required to submit lists daily stating their requirements and giving their customers' names and reasons for the request. Danish banks were advised by the Nordiska Foreningsbanken of Helsingfors that the Finnish banks would no longer be able to remit foreign currency in settlement of accounts, unless the clients for whom payment is to be made have, in fact, made the requisite foreign currency available. Where a client merely instructs that a certain foreign account is to be paid, the bank will not be able to give effect to the order in any other manner than by crediting the payee's account in Finnish marks. The money will have to remain on deposit in Finland.

Swiss francs and Dutch guilders participated in the general decline in exchange. There were indications of a decided flow of Dutch funds, and to some extent of Swiss funds also, to this side. The guilder neared the point where gold might be expected to move from Amsterdam to New York. Cable transfers on Switzerland were quoted at 19.37¾@19.43 Nov. 30 as against 19.54½@19.57½ Nov. 10. The Dutch guilder on cable transfers was 40.06½@40.10 on Nov. 23 against 40.32@40.43 on Nov. 5 with the close Nov. 30 at 40.13⅜@40.27. Spanish pesetas continued their downward course and cable transfers Nov. 30 were quoted at 8.41¼@8.45 against 8.85½@8.91½ Nov. 2.

Exchanges on the South American countries continued for the most part under the control of the various exchange committees which follow lines of action laid down by Government decrees. In Argentina quite some improvement in the exchange rate occurred, because of the rise in the price of wheat in the markets of the world of which Argentina is such a large producer. The latter part of the month wheat prices suffered a reaction and this was reflected in the lowering again of exchange rates. As against 23.40@24.00 on Nov. 2 cable transfers on Argentina Nov. 14 were as high as 26.50@27.25; on Nov. 30 the range was 25.50@26.00. On Nov. 10 the Government Exchange Control Committee suspended the pegging of exchange and instead began fixing maximum and minimum limits for cable transfers. Limits for gold pesos in Buenoes Aires were fixed at 1.71 and 1.65 to the dollar. The commission said it believed it would aid the exchange market to find its own level by terminating the pegging practice. Formerly the Government committee fixed the rate at which dealings could take place and limited the amount which could be sold from day to day. The amount of exchange which may be bought in a day has been extended to 50.000 pesos. The Brazilian milreis showed no fluctuations of importance during the month. Chilean exchange also showed no change of consequence. The Chilean Government appointed an advisory committee to the Foreign Exchange Board, whose operations, it is understood, had brought about a serious situation in the import business. Rigorous exchange control by the Board, it is said, made it increasingly difficult for importers to make foreign remittances and sent prices of imported articles soaring. The Finance Minister of Brazil, Jose Maria Whittaker resigned, a fact which caused some disturbance in Brazilian financial circles, although confidence was restored with the announcement by the new Finance Minister Osvaldo Aranha that he would follow Whittaker's policy of firmly opposing the issuance of more paper currency. The decision of Finance Minister Whittaker to resign from the Cabinet was followed by the resignation of Almeida Parado as President of the Bank of Brazil, who was succeeded by Carlos Figueiredo, former manager of the exchange department of the bank.

Exchange on the Far East followed very closely the trend of the silver market, which in the early part of the month continued its upward course, but the latter part suffered a downward reaction. The Japanese yen moved higher, despite the considerable injury imposed upon Japanese business by the Chinese boycott and in face of the military operations in Manchuria between Japan and China. Japan sent no less than $76,000,000 gold to the United States in November. In view of reports circulated with great persistency that Japan might be forced off the gold basis, the heads of the leading Japanese banks met with the Prime Minister and the Finance Minister in Tokyo on Saturday, Nov. 7, and adopted a resolution "recognizing the imperative necessity of maintaining Japan's gold standard, especially in view of the grave international situation arising from Manchurian developments." The resolution said that after Great Britain's abandonment of the gold standard. Japan's outflow of gold "assumed alarming proportions, causing much discussion of the resumption of the gold embargo." "We are confident, however," the resolution added, "that the situation in no wise justifies such a measure, which, moreover, would drastically affect the foundations of our national economy through the fall and fluctuation of exchange rates abroad." Checks for the yen on Yokohama were quoted at 49 9/16@49¾ Nov. 30 against 48 15/16@49½ Nov. 2. The Hongkong dollar for checks, after rising from 25.10@25 7/16 Nov. 2 to 29.00@29 5/16 Nov. 12, declined thereafter, and Nov. 30 was down to 24⅝@25 11/16. Tael on Shanghai for checks moved up from 32.56@32 13/16 Nov. 2 to 37⅜@39.50 Nov. 12, but were down to 31 15/16@32⅝ Nov. 30. Rupees on Bombay appeared to move lower in accord with the decline in the British pound sterling. Rupees on Bombay for checks were down to 26 7/16@28.00 Nov. 30 against 28.56@29.25 Nov. 2. The price of silver in London, after the advance in October from 15 15/16 pence per ounce to 18 3/16 pence, continued its upward course during the first half of November, touching 21 9/16 on Saturday, Nov. 14; on Monday, Nov. 16, however, there was a sudden drop to 18 pence, with a recovery to 18⅞ pence Nov. 17, and with the price Nov. 27 and Nov. 28 19⅛ pence. The quotation Nov. 30 was 18 13/16 pence.

The tables on pages 16 to 38 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during November and range since January 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

General Quotations

OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges of the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for equipment bonds are based on average maturities.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.
